GUN FIGHT TRAPS HOLDUP SUSPECTS

MINIMUM PAY PER DAY TO BE $2.70

$2.30 in Majority of
Local Units

Minimum wages of $2.70 per day will be offered citrus pickers by some of the packing houses of the county, The Journal learned today. This represents an increase of approximately 17 per cent over last year's minimum.

A. J. McFadden, prominent Santa Ana grower and chairman of the state prorate commission, said today the minimum wages will be established.

The $2.70 per day represents an increase over the minimum paid last year by the packing houses.

Last year an agreement was reached whereby the pickers were paid $2.30 for a nine-hour day, with opportunity for earning more by picking more fruit.

The plan for this year scheduled at some houses is to pay the minimum of $2.70 a day, with so much per box to enable the fast workers to earn more money. Houses that will pay by the box will pay from six to six and a half cents a box, an increase of a half cent a box over last year. Most houses will pay the higher rate.

McFadden said packing houses will notify their own pickers in regard to the schedules of wages. It was pointed out that each packing house will deal with its own pickers, but that efforts will be made to have uniform wages for pickers.

Picking conditions in various parts of the county vary, but citrus authorities agree that there will be more work for the pickers this year than last because there is more fruit to be picked, regardless of the fact that part of it is frozen and will not go to regular markets.

Pickers will earn more money than they did last year. Because of this fact, no labor trouble with pickers is expected this year.

PREDICT RELIEF COST TO RISE

That the so-called "supervisors' bill" for a new relief set-up for the state may increase costs to Orange county taxpayers more than $100,000 per year is the current belief in Sacramento, it was learned here today.

The information came from an informed source at the state capital, who could not be quoted.

Supervisors here have estimated the increased cost at from $40,000 to $50,000, but point out that the bill is intended to limit county expenditures to 16 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Estimates of the cost, as reported from Sacramento, set the annual cost of relief to Orange county under the supervisors' bill at from $150,000 to $250,000.

Tortures Self

Scarred on her forehead and burned and cut in 50 places on her body, Mrs. Irma Duncan, 37, mother of two, told Detroit police she inflicted the wounds herself to obey "cult" teachings. She said it was her duty to "sacrifice myself."

SET VALENCIA PRORATES

Standardization Will Be Topic of Meet
Next Thursday

Developments preparatory to general launching of the county's $17,000,000 Valencia industry came rapidly today.

Two of the major developments were setting of the first Valencia prorate for Southern California today, and calling of a mass meeting of all packing house managers to discuss standardization procedure.

At least one packing house in the county already is packing Valencia, and more are scheduled to open next week. The Eaden Fruit company shipped four cars for export today. The heavy run will not begin until about May 1 in Orange county.

The first Valencia prorate for this section was established for next week by the California-Arizona Orange and Grapefruit agency at 190 cars of fruit. The interstate prorate was set at 150 cars of Valencia and the intra-state prorate at 40 cars.

It was evident that Orange county (See PRORATE, Page 2)

Van Devanter Is 78 Today

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Justice Willis Van Devanter, who has sat on the supreme court longer than any of his colleagues, observed his 78th birthday today by studying some of the legal problems awaiting solution by the tribunal.

Justice Van Devanter, appointed by President Taft in 1910, is expected in age only by 80-year-old Justice Brandeis. He likes such outdoor activity as duck hunting and roaming about his newly-acquired Maryland farm.

He attracted considerable attention a few months ago by failing to buy a $1 hunting license when he went in pursuit of ducks in nearby Virginia. He pleaded ignorance of the law when accosted by a game warden and promptly obtained the required stamp.

FIGHT MARKS DEMOCRATIC ASSEMBLY

Bourbons Form Harmony
Unit Here But Get Into Epic War

More than 200 Democrats of Orange county organized for harmony last night; then broke out in a typically Democratic fight over remarks made about Upton Sinclair.

But they didn't have the fight until after they perfected an Orange county unit of the Assembly of California Democrats and elected chairmen for the various districts of the county. Chester I. Dale was made chairman of the county unit.

The storm broke over remarks of Dr. E. C. Brinkmeyer, chairman of the Los Angeles county unit of the Assembly of California Democrats, who claimed Sinclair as one of several "false leaders" of Democrats and spoke also of "renegade Democrats."

Old Wounds Open

Ray Thomas, young Epic leader, sounded the battle cry: "An old wound has been opened here tonight. We have been referred to as renegade Democrats. The way things have started here is not a good sign of harmony. There are 900,000 men on the streets tonight saying the speaker is wrong."

Dr. Brinkmeyer ought to get it through his head that he isn't going to get harmony if he talks as he has here," remarked Dan O'Hanlon of Fullerton.

Saves Situation

Mrs. Mae Geeting, herself an Epic in the last campaign, saved the situation with a witty speech which left the combatants smiling at one another.

The old fight over the Democratic central committee was there, too, but was kept under the table.

UNION TO FILE FORD CHARGES

DETROIT. (AP)—A drive to unionize employees of the Ford Motor company proceeded today and the United Automobile Workers of America said it would file charges against the independent producer with the national labor relations board.

"We will have Henry Ford definitely on the run by Monday," said Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, at Oshawa, Ont., where he went in connection with the General Motors of Canada, Ltd., strike.

He did not discuss the nature of the proposed charges against the company but at Detroit, Ed Hall, a union vice president, said it was likely action would be taken in connection with the beating of two union members employed in the Ford plant at Kansas City this week.

Seal Beach Will Revive Tango

By KENNETH ADAMS

It won't be long now! Licensed tango will break wide open at Seal Beach in the near future. It's in the cards. And in the wind, too, at the Orange county beach city.

District Attorney W. F. Menton said today that Attorney General U. S. Webb has held that tango is a form of lottery, and as such is unlawful. While there may be a legal distinction between tango and "gambling," Menton said that actually there is no difference.

People don't plunk down $1000 in cold cash to run a "business" for a year without planning to operate that "business." And that's what Eli Katz has done in taking out a city license to run the glamorous new Hollywood tango parlor.

Eli Katz, says City Clerk Ollie B. Padrick of Seal Beach, is a public accountant from Los Angeles. He may be the miracle man responsible for the amazing transformation of the Hollywood from a food market to a tango parlor. The transformation from a food market to a tango parlor was predicted exclusively in The Journal several months ago.

When builders of the Hollywood took out a building permit, they said they were building a food market at 208 Main street, Seal (See SEAL BEACH, Page 2)

ESPEE STRIKE SPAIN WAR 9 POSTPONED MONTHS OLD

Federal Mediators to Open Hearings on Dispute Tuesday

By the Associated Press

Opposing armies in Spain continued their warfare in two widely separated sectors today, the northern Bay of Biscay coast and at the doorway to Madrid in the south.

Today ended the ninth month of war.

Basque defenders of the important manufacturing and shipping center of Bilbao—the Pittsburgh of Spain—declared they had halted insurgent advances commanded by German officers.

A hurried call for reinforcements from the Basques was denied by the Spanish government because "not a single man can be spared from other fronts." Serious food and fuel shortages aggravated a tense situation in Bilbao. Factories were closed.

Insurgents again pumped shells into the heart of Madrid. One struck a jail, killing one prisoner, wounding five others.

Government troops shelled insurgent positions in the University City and Casa de Campo suburbs of Madrid. Insurgents held the strongholds despite repeated counter-attacks.

Nazi Chief Slain;
Germany Aroused

BERLIN. (AP)—The killing of a Nazi organizer in Argentina aroused German press and officialdom today to a burst of excitement such as followed the killing of Organizer Gustloff in Switzerland last year.

Rudolf Hess, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's deputy for party affairs, immediately cabled the Argentine section of the party desk sympathy for the "dastardly murder" of Josef Riedle, 37, leader of the Villa Ballester group of the Argentine section of Nazi foreign organization.

The decision was written by Justice Marshall F. McComb and concurred in by Justices Charles S. Crail and Walton J. Wood. To back up his opinion concerning chastity and seduction, Justice McComb went back to a famous Oregon supreme court decision of 50 years ago.

DECISION ON FINAL DATE UNANIMOUS

Move to End Sessions
Immediately Loses;
More to Testify

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate judiciary committee voted today to close hearings on the Roosevelt court bill by April 28.

Attempts to close the hearings immediately failed. The 10-day extension was voted to take care of those already invited to testify.

All next week will be given over to close the committee's bill.

Friends of the measure then will be permitted to present closing evidence for the first three days of the following week, if they choose. It was possible, however, that the administration would rest its case and permit the testimony to end next week.

Vote Unanimous

Chairman Ashurst (D., Ariz.) announced that the vote to close the hearings by April 28 was unanimous. Senator Hughes (D., Del.) who made the original motion to close immediately, accepted an amendment by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.) to provide for 10 days more.

Hughes also accepted an amendment by Senator Pittman (D., Nev.) to permit each side to file statements in addition to the evidence presented orally.

Ashurst said the committee would start almost immediately after the close of hearings to consider the legislation in closed session. Asked how long it would take the committee to act, once it began secret deliberations, the committee chairman replied "No-body knows."

Compromise Urged

The committee decision coincided with a proposal by Senator McGill (D., Kans.) and one of the uncommitted senators holding the balance of power on the committee, that President Roosevelt be allowed to appoint two new supreme court justices if those over 70 do not retire.

Two of the other non-committal committee members—Senators Hatch (D., N. M.) and McCarran (D., Nev.)—have offered similar compromises of the President's proposal to appoint six new members to the court unless justices over 70 withdraw.

'BETRAYED' GIRL LOSES $10,000

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Before a woman can validly sustain a charge of seduction, the court of appeals held today, she must prove that she was chaste at the time of the betrayal.

The opinion was written when the court reversed a $10,000 judgment awarded Mary Carter, 18, who charged that Jerry Murphy, sales corporation executive, betrayed her.

The decision was written by Justice Marshall F. McComb and concurred in by Justices Charles S. Crail and Walton J. Wood.

To back up his opinion concerning chastity and seduction, Justice McComb went back to a famous Oregon supreme court decision of 50 years ago.

Heiress, Called
Insane, Escapes

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Miss Mary Helen Daingerfield, 56-year-old heiress kept under guard at her home here pending outcome of sanity proceedings, escaped last night from the court guard assigned to watch her.

Miss Daingerfield, member of one of Alexandria's oldest families and heiress to the $800,000 estate of Edward C. Daingerfield, her father, was reported seen later in the Union station in Washington.

'Purges' Cabinet

Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Canada (above) demanded resignation of two members of his cabinet to assure government unity in a great Canadian "economic crisis." Hepburn is in active opposition to the C. I. O. Canadian General Motors organization drive.

So ended today a night of holdups from San Diego to Doheny Park for two San Pedro youths. Their capture, officers believe, may solve seven holdups and a car theft.

Late Burns, 23, truck driver, and John Gray, 19, were captured by 13 Santa Ana, San Clemente and Orange police and sheriff's officers as they fled into a Tustin orchard early this morning after pursuit from San Clemente by Officer Jay Decker.

Driving a car stolen in San Pedro, the two men assertedly drove to San Diego last night and were frightened away from a service station, they intended to rob. Turning north, they forced a car off the road near San Clemente. Otto Johnson, San Diego was covered with guns and robbed of several dollars. Johnson slid his wallet under the seat cushion, saving a considerable sum from the holdup men. Officers believe Burns and Gray were responsible.

Driving into San Clemente, the pair assertedly attempted to head up Roy Larson, service station proprietor. A Mexican driving up frightened them away and set Officer Decker on the trail.

Speeding through Doheny Park, Decker was flagged down and told that the two men had just robbed Marie's cafe there of $60.

Meanwhile, a telephone call to the sheriff's office brought a general radio alarm from the police (See BANDITS, Page 2)

STRIKE PEACE MEET CALLED

G. M. Workers and Firm
Accept Hepburn's
Invitation

OSHAWA, Ont. (AP)—General Motors of Canada, Ltd., and representatives of the company's 3700 strikers today accepted Premier Mitchell Hepburn's invitation to a 2 p. m. peace conference in his Toronto office.

Hepburn's invitation followed the United Automobile Workers' decision to withdraw from its negotiating committee, Hugh Thompson, Detroit organizer, whom Hepburn has repeatedly called a "foreign agitator."

A similar conference slated for last Saturday failed to materialize when Hepburn, outspoken opponent of John L. Lewis' labor movement, refused to let Thompson come into his office.

Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, decided last night to send C. H. Millard, president of the union's Oshawa local, and J. L. Cohen, the union's Canadian counsel, to the premier's office. Both Millard and Cohen are Canadians.

SIX KILLED, FOUR HURT IN CRASH

PASO ROBLES. (AP)—Six persons were killed and four others injured in a head-on collision of an automobile and a truck at Keck's Corner, 40 miles east of here.

The victims were identified as Edgar Chetwood, 15; William A. Baker; William F. Franks, 46; William Graham, 39; Jack Reynolds, 55; and Manuel W. Ezzell, all of Bakersfield. The accident occurred last night.

Officers said the accident apparently was caused by the drivers becoming confused by headlights.

Rudolf Chetwood, one of the injured, said he was in a light truck, with seven other men, returning to Bakersfield after investigating labor trouble in the Nipomo district.

The driver of the automobile was cremated. His companion, Charles Carness, whose lung was punctured, was unconscious.

Other identified injured were Edward Franks, internal injuries and fractured right arm; Eldred McCaskey, fractured skull.

Pair Caught in Tustin

Ninety miles an hour from San Juan Capistrano to Tustin ahead of a police car, a hail of bullets in an orange grove, capture, and a county jail cell.

So ended today a night of holdups from San Diego to Doheny Park for two San Pedro youths. Their capture, officers believe, may solve seven holdups and a car theft.

JAIL PAIR WHO SHOT G-MAN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Two New York bank robbery suspects captured by rural officers after a flight from Topeka, Kas., where they shot a federal agent in a gun battle, were spirited away from jail here today.

The gangsters, taken by surprise in a bloodless coup, were placed in two automobiles by federal agents and driven south, ostensibly in Topeka. Last night they lost their way in the criss-cross streets of a small Nebraska town and surrendered without resistance. Ten hours after the men identified as Robert Suhay, 26, and Alfred Powers, 45, shot their way out of the trap set by federal agents in the Topeka postoffice they were captives of Sheriff Homer Sylvester. During their flight they kidnapped a country physician and forced him to treat Suhay, who was wounded.

The sheriff and his brother, Deputy Cass Sylvester, arrested them at Plattsmouth, Neb., a town of 3,700 population 25 miles south of here, without a shot being fired.

Marriage of girl,
15, Is Approved

Discovering that their marriage Jan. 2 in Yuma, Ariz., was not valid because of the age of the bride, Velma Juanita Clayton, 15, and Lewis Clark Woods, 20, yesterday gained superior court approval of their marriage.

Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames granted permission to marry on the petition of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Clayton and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Louis Woods.

Looking Back at 80, Darrow Is "Satisfied"

CHICAGO. (AP)—Looking back today on 80 years of life, Clarence Darrow declared his efforts in behalf of unfortunates had given him the most satisfaction.

The nation's most famous counsel for the defense—Darrow was almost invariably on the side of the accused—will observe his 80th birthday tomorrow in the quiet of his South Side home.

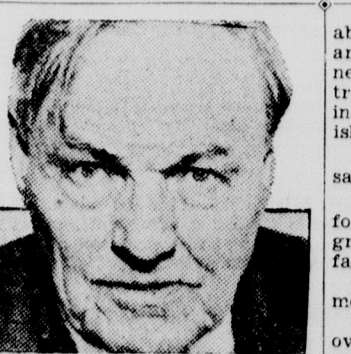

His health is poor, but he remains keenly attentive to the daily flow of news, indicated by his recent plea against a proposal in the Michigan legislature for a return to capital punishment in that state.

The noted lawyer-philosopher declared a birthday interview but painstakingly wrote out answers to a series of submitted questions. These were the questions and answers as Darrow returned them: "Do I wish that I had done differently?"

"I am fairly well satisfied with the way I have lived and acted." "What do I regard as having done the most good?"

"My strong feeling of tolerance toward all things, and my constant belief that no one is responsible for his makeup and acts; this, of course, is hostile to the unscientific belief in free will. Granted that we are burdened with many abnormal and misfit humans, who are victims of their own conduct, nevertheless they deserve to be treated as patients in institutions instead of imprisoned and punished."

What has brought me the most satisfaction?
"My efforts in behalf of unfortunates has brought me the greatest and most lasting satisfaction."

What appears to have been my most difficult task?
"Trying my hardest to help overcome the cruelties of the world. Worst of all, the horrible punishments, tortures and injustices inflicted, like lynching, the rankest vengeance; capital punishment, which does not deter others, etc."

Have I a guide to offer those entering in the legal profession?
"I would like to see a crop of lawyers developed with more genuine, humane ambition to benefit the poor and unfortunate clients, rather than themselves."

Regarding my attitude toward religion:
"I feel as I always have, that the earth is the home, and the only home of man, and I am convinced that whatever he is to get out of his existence he must get while he is here."

SAFE DRIVING CAMPAIGNER IS FINED

Pleads Guilty Today To Driving at 60 Miles An Hour

An embarrassed safety-medal awardee walked out of Tustin court $25 poorer today, after pleading guilty to a charge of driving 60 miles an hour.

He heaved a sigh of relief, though, because he narrowly missed going to jail for five days.

C. Lewis Edwards, 33-year-old Pasadena undertaker and director of the state junior chamber of commerce, tangled with Highway Patrol Officer John Tustin the other day on his way back from awarding safe-driving medals in San Diego. Embarrassed when he heard he was in Tustin's township, where he has friends, he asked if he could appear in Santa Ana.

He and his attorney, Otto Jacobs, appeared in Santa Ana Justice court and found to their dismay that Justice Kennedy Morrison was about to give Edwards a five-day free vacation. Hastily he switched back to Tustin justice court.

He pleaded guilty before Justice D. T. Hayden this morning, paid his $25 fine, and figured it was better than going to jail.

Two-Pound Baby At Raton, N. M.

RATON, N. M. (AP)—Dr. H. E. Donovan reported today a two-pound baby girl was born this morning to Mrs. C. M. Dewey of Raton.

The baby, which Dr. Donovan said was the size of his hand, was delivered by Caesarean operation. The mother and infant he said, are "doing fine."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Mild support appeared for leading stocks in today's market and a number of specialties pushed up substantially. Dealings were exceptionally quiet, even for a Saturday and numerous issues held to rest. A world-wide crash yesterday on European peace moves and rumors of an arms conference among the powers in the near future.

Boosting stock favorites also were brighter earnings statements and favorable dividend actions. Coppers, leading Friday's slow retreat, drifted to still lower levels.

Prices follow.

Police Appeal To Pickpocket In Keller Case

TOKYO. (AP)—Police decided today to make a radio appeal to the conscience of a pickpocket who stole an address book and more than 200 yen ($37.13) from Helen Keller, the blind educator, at Yokohama before she came here Thursday.

Miss Keller asked authorities to redouble their efforts to find the book because it contains the names of American and foreign friends. Officials planned to ask the thief to return at least the address book.

The newspaper Asahi, commenting on the theft, said:

"In Japan we have a phrase, 'chivalrous robber,' but the offense against the holy American woman who brought light and hope to the world's millions of deaf, dumb and blind is the crime of an unchivalrous robber, amounts to a national shame."

"We suspect the crime was committed by a delinquent boy incapable of distinguishing the miracle woman from others."

MORE ABOUT SEAL BEACH

(Continued from Page 1) Beach. A crew of workmen was busy in the Hollywood yesterday afternoon, but they weren't selling groceries. No sir, they were putting the finishing touches to the ritziest tango parlor on the Pacific Coast!

It's no secret in Seal Beach that the tango parlors will reopen soon. All you have to do is walk in the Hollywood and take a look at the elegant tango counters and the whole layout, which is ultra lavish and plenty expensive.

Katz walked in the city hall at Seal Beach the other day and laid down $1000 for a year's tango license. And he's not the only one. Leo's tango parlor also paid out $1000 for a license, which was a renewal. What's more, so did the Seal Tango parlor renew its license, at a cost of $1000. But the cost of the license doesn't amount to so much—considering the take.

From the outside, the Hollywood tango parlor looks like a fine new market building. But the plans are to remove the conservative front and build on a more inviting one, more open to the public.

Tending to promote a better feeling toward the list was a moderate comeback in some major commodities which suffered a world-wide crash yesterday on European peace moves and rumors of an arms conference among the powers in the near future.

Boosting stock favorites also were brighter earnings statements and favorable dividend actions. Coppers, leading Friday's slow retreat, drifted to still lower levels.

Prices follow.

MORE ABOUT PRORATE

(Continued from Page 1) ty will go into an open market for the prorate set for central California on valencias was but 75 cars of valencias, for interstate commerce, and but 25 cars for intrastate shipment. There are but about 1400 cars of navel and miscellaneous oranges to go after today.

Orange average prices on the New York market this week were $4.04 as compared with $3.23 for the same week of last year.

Preparing for the general opening of the valencia season, which is expected to see about 6,000,000 boxes of fruit shipped from Orange County, County Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs today called a meeting of packing house managers for next Thursday at 10 a. m.

At this meeting decisions of the state department of agriculture in regard to standardization rulings will be discussed. The transverse method of cutting valencias will be used this season, it was announced today, to determine the extent of frost damage in the fruit.

Tubbs announced that the state department will supply Orange county with three inspectors who will work out of the local office. They will assist county inspectors in the big job of checking shipments on standardization regulations. The county also will put on two or three extra inspectors for the valencia season, making about 10 men working in the county.

Cop, Off Duty, Slays Bandit

CLEVELAND. (AP)—Patrolman Earl Dietrick, off duty, took his wife to a city park last night and awaited a holdup man who for several weeks preyed on couples in parked automobiles.

After 10 minutes a man appeared, the officer said, commanding "give me your money or I'll blow your brains out." Dietrick fired once, killing George Cerven-

QUICK APPEAL ON SECURITY ACT SOUGHT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Government officials considered today a quick appeal from the decision of the first circuit court of appeals at Boston invalidating the social security act's provisions for unemployment insurance and old age benefits.

Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, expressed the hope the supreme court might decide the issue at the present term "so that the question of the act has now been raised as to the constitutionality of this important part of the act may be set at rest."

In order to secure a final decision before the supreme court adjourns for the summer in early June an appeal must be filed by next Saturday.

The court already has under consideration a challenge of the unemployment insurance feature of the act, brought in an Alabama case. A decision may be announced April 26. This case, however, did not involve the old age benefits.

The fifth circuit court of appeals upheld the act in the Alabama case.

Crooner Denies Assault Charge

BOSTON. (AP)—Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader, pleaded innocent today to charges of assault and battery upon a newspaper photographer and his case was continued until April 21.

Benedict Fitzgerald, the photographer, charged that Vallee and Harry Paul, his friend, assaulted him after he had snapped a picture of Vallee and Evelyn Gresham, New York show girl, leaving a theater. Paul, charged with destroying Fitzgerald's camera, must appear in court April 21.

MORE ABOUT DEMOCRATS

(Continued from Page 1) central committee, remarked that the central committee is not supposed to take part in the primary campaign. To this several speakers, including Ham Cotton, replied that the central committee exists legally only from the primary election to the general election and does not carry through the year.

McKinney insisted, however, that the central committee is recognized as the governing body of Democratic policy through the year.

Dale recently stirred a fight by declaring that Democrats should not bind themselves to the central committee, particularly because two members voted for Republicans.

Central Committee Edward C. Purpus, vice-chairman of the Roosevelt-Garner campaign committee and delegate to the national convention, was the principal speaker. He declared that the central committee is recognized as the governing body of Democratic policy through the year.

Besides Dale, officers of the Assembly elected last night are Mrs. Mae Geeting, Santa Ana, secretary, and Haley Bell, Fullerton, treasurer. In addition, the chairmen for districts of the county will be vice-presidents of the Assembly.

These include John Akerman for the south half of Santa Ana, Mrs. O. K. Heine for the north half of Santa Ana, Judge Charles Patton for Huntington Beach, Garden View, Seal Beach, Talbert, Garden Grove, Katella, and Los Alamitos.

Ben. Gary for Fullerton, Orlie Simon for Orange, Col. Walter Lowe for Placentia, Yorba Linda and Alhambra; Arley Leck for San Juan Capistrano and San Clemente, and Claude Pullen for Newport, Balboa and Costa Mesa.

Officers will meet Tuesday morning at Dale's office, 620 N. Main street, to start the work of the organization.

Its general purposes are to coordinate the gain control in California and elect a Democratic governor in 1938.

Hamilton H. Cotton, Orange county Democratic boss and former patronage dispenser, was a featured speaker, declaring:

"The trouble with the Democratic party is the lack of organization. We have in office in California many Democrats who were not Democrats before 1934."

Speaking of the appointment of Republicans to state positions, he declared:

MRS. GEETING RE-ELECTED BY VOTERS

Women's League Holds Annual Meeting at Tea Shop

Mrs. Geeting was re-elected president of the League of Women Voters yesterday at the annual meeting which followed a luncheon in the Doris-Kathryn tea shop. Other officers chosen by the league are Mrs. Felton Browning, first vice-president; Miss Dorothy Wentz, second vice-president; Mrs. C. H. Stanley, Mrs. Harwood Sharp and Mrs. F. B. Royce, honorary presidents; Mrs. Sue Ann Ritter, secretary; and Mrs. A. J. Knight, re-elected treasurer. Mrs. Knight has served as treasurer of the league since its inception.

Annual Reports
Annual reports were given, showing the work done by the league this year in its regular meetings, its classes held at 9 a. m. every Friday in the Y.W.C.A., and in its contacts with the government of city, state, and nation. Speaker of the afternoon was C. E. Houston, commercial manager of the Southern California Edison company and former manager of the Los Angeles county fair, who spoke on "Private Ownership of Public Utilities."

All Are Public
The purpose of utilities, he said is to render service to the people that the people cannot conveniently do for themselves. All utilities, he pointed out, are public, differing only in management, and he expressed the belief that private ownership tends toward more efficiency and that state regulation is more satisfactory than nationalization of a utility business.

Mae West, he said in conclusion, was paid last year 10 times as much as the president of the Edison company, and more money was spent on smoking than on electricity.

WEST TO HEAD TUX 'N GOWN

Election of officers, plans for the spring formal dance, and decision to make all four dances this year formal affairs were the matters of business before old and new members in joint session last night at the home of Herbert Hill, the retiring chairman.

Hume West, a member of last year's board who remains for another term, was elected chairman for the new season, with Dr. Stanley Norton as secretary, Wendell Finley as treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Stump, membership chairman; Paul Beckman, orchestra chairman; Mrs. Oliver Lindemeyer, decorations chairman, and Mrs. Everett Hall, publicity.

The spring dance will be an event of Saturday night, May 1, at the Santa Ana Country club, it was decided.

Governor Signs New Kidnap Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Governor Merriam yesterday signed the Leonard bill imposing a life sentence, without possibility of parole, upon any person who extorts money by posing as a kidnaper or accomplice of a kidnaper.

The measure is designed to aid in stamping out kidnaping in California by preventing anyone from obscuring or complicating the solution of a case by sending letters or messages to the family of a kidnapped person, pretending to be the one to whom a demanded payment must be made.

Flames Leap Hundreds Of Feet in H. B. Oil Fire

A spectacular oil fire just north of the Huntington Beach oil fields drew throngs of spectators yesterday afternoon and last night.

But this particular fire wasn't a disaster. It was set on purpose, to burn up thousands of gallons of waste oil and materials dumped into a big sump near Talbert and Golden West avenue.

The huge column of black smoke could be seen all over the county. Flames shot up hundreds of feet high in the heavy pall of smoke, which drifted across the sky.

An area as large as several city blocks was a seething sea of flame as the fire, whipped into a frenzy by a strong ocean breeze, raged for hours.

Waste materials from a large portion of the Huntington Beach oil wells had accumulated during the past six months were burned in the fire. The fire is set once every six months.

Coronation Curiosities

By HAROLD S. CORBIN
One of a series of 18 articles explaining some of the novel phases in the crowning of King George VI of England on May 12, and citing historical precedents for them.

ST. EDWARD'S CHAIR

There will be two chairs of state for the king and queen at the coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey. But it will be the ancient St. Edward's chair in which King George VI will sit when he is anointed and crowned.

It is made of oak, constructed by order of Edward I in 1300 at a cost of 100 shillings. Its feet drest on four carved lions, and it is believed to have originally been gilded and covered in some parts with glass mosaic.

Under its seat is the famed Stone of Scone, a rough block of red sandstone used for untold generations at the coronations of Scottish kings at Scone, in northern Scotland. It is also called the "Stone of Destiny" and legend says it was the original pillow on which Jacob rested his head when he beheld the vision of ascending and descending angels at Bethel.

Edward I defeated the Scots in 1226 and took the stone as a symbol of their subjugation. It was then placed in the Abbey and has never been removed except for the installation of Oliver Cromwell as Lord Protector in Westminster hall in 1657.

Use of a stone at coronations goes back to Anglo-Saxon times when every king, from Edward the Elder to Edward, was crowned on a stone at Kingston-on-Thames, which still stands in the market place of that on the Surrey bank.

St. Edward's chair has been scarred by generations of sightseers who have carved their initials in it.

Among the necessities for the coronation of Charles II in 1660 is mentioned: "St. Edward's Chayre richly furnished placed in the midst against the Altar towards the Throne, wherein he was Crowned."

CREDIT FOR LUG BOXES SOUGHT

Perturbed over the situation which has arisen because Los Angeles commission agents handling produce have discontinued paying growers of vegetables a three-cent allowance on their lug boxes, vegetable growers of the Southland will meet in Los Angeles next Wednesday.

Executive secretary R. D. Flaherty of the farm bureau and William Greeley, chairman of the vegetable department, plan to attend the meeting, when a campaign to secure restoration of the allowance will be made.

Assistant Farm Advisor Ross E. Crane of Orange county said today that discontinuing allowances on lug boxes in which produce is delivered will mean a loss of about $50,000 a year to Orange county growers. About half the produce marketed from here is in tomatoes.

Published reports yesterday to the effect that growers will form a marketing association of their own "do not amount to much," Crane said today. The statement that a meeting was held in the farm bureau hall here Thursday afternoon also was incorrect.

Growers have to pay about five cents for the lug boxes in which they send their produce to market. The custom in the past has been for the produce sellers in the city to refund three cents of this to the growers.

Saints Win Class B Track Title

TEDROW HIGH JUMPS 6:1 TO RECORD

Patterson Hurls Discus 131:9 While Varsity Humbled, 81 to 32

Santa Ana High school's "Little Saints" were basking in the glory of their first Class B track championship in the Coast Preparatory league today, which came with a 48-47 upset over Woodrow Wilson's powerful middleweights at Long Beach yesterday.

Wendell Tedrow, the lanky junior who is destined to equal the feats of Paul Jacques, soared to a new record of 6 ft. 1-8 in. in the Class B high jump, and Al (Red) Patterson, the giant red-head, bettered his varsity discus record with a splendid toss of 131 ft. 9 in. He held the old mark of 127 ft. 4 in.

As expected, Coach Reese Green's Saint varsity was badly outclassed by Woodrow Wilson's dual meet champions, 81 to 32, and the Saint Cees fell by a 57 to 20 count.

Instrumental in bringing the Class B title to Santa Ana were, in addition to the remarkable Tedrow, Byron Bates, Wayne Piper, Tom Engelman, Jerome Duffy, Larry Dresser, Dick Stein, Bob Newton, Bob Pollard, Don Grotzbach, Bob Frias, Howard Elliott, Bob Lewis, Worth Elliott and Maurice Young. They will be awarded varsity letters instead of the smaller Class B monograms, and there is a possibility they may receive miniature gold track shoes.

The Saints were at Ontario today for the 12th annual running of the Chaffey Invitational.

Jaw Fractured, Lee Continues Fight

By KENNETH ADAMS

Leo Lee, Orange fistcutter, emerged from his battle with Bill Gonzalez, Ontario, at the Orange County Athletic club in the role of an unsung hero. Without a whimper and without fans knowing a thing about it, Leo Lee fought the entire fourth round of the vicious battle with a badly fractured jaw. Gonzalez hit Lee so hard just as the bell rung at the end of the third stanza that it split his teeth and jaw wide open in the center of his chin. The blow which shattered his jaw sent Lee half-way across the ring, onto the ropes and down to the floor. He came back in the fourth without saying a word about his jaw, and did the best he could. Lee dropped the decision, however, but won the admiration of those that learned about the broken jaw after the fight was over. The Club physician rushed Lee downtown, where his teeth and jaw were wired together.

The show staged by Matchmaker George Stewart last night should have packed the house. It was a wow! You couldn't see a better battle anywhere in the state than the one staged between Everett (Cyclone) Jure of Redlands and stout-hearted Tony Mendez of Ontario.

Mendez stopped Jure's long winning streak by earning an edge over the slashing Frenchman. Jure, who is getting fatter and fatter, pumped deep left hooks into Tony's midsection, but the Mexican came back in the last two rounds to make Jure hang on.

The battle was a riot from start to finish. Mendez was jarred off his feet in the second round. Paul Brown, Santa Ana, was scheduled to meet Jure, but could not show because his grandmother dropped dead yesterday.

As predicted, anything can happen when two giants climb into the ring, and it did last night, when Ernie Shive of Tustin and the man-mountain Kerp Dawson of Los Angeles clashed in a battle that saw but three blows landed in about as many seconds. They traded a punch, and then Shives let loose a haymaker that started

STARS ANNEX 12-7; OILERS SCORE, 8-1

Mott Hits Homer, Triple In Victory; Ward Nine 9-8 Loser at Orange

Silent for six innings, the heavy artillery of Santa Ana's Stars exploded with a barrage of hits in the seventh, eighth and ninth to cut down Ontario's nightball nine, 12 to 7, at Ontario last night.

Ontario made the mistake of changing pitchers in the heat of battle. Kemp, the star, had the Stars at his mercy for four innings, and his pitching partner, Chilcoat, was given a 6-0 lead going into the sixth. The Stars made it 6-1 before starting a six-run rally in the seventh, as follows:

Tommy Young, Manager "Doc" Smith and Bomo Koral hit consecutive bunts to fill the bases. Mott, the sensational rookie first-baseman, tripled for three runs, and came home on three runs. The Stars' double, Smith singled, and Mott whaled a home run for two more in the eighth. Six singles by Coats, Russ Porter, Ira DeBusk, Young, Smith and Koral manufactured six runs in the ninth.

Smith, Koral and Mott sparked Santa Ana's attack with three safeties each. DeBusk, toiling the entire nine innings, fanned nine rivals and yielded 10 hits.

The Stars play the Dash nine of Long Beach here Tuesday night and Riverside here next Friday night. There will be no admission charge.

P.T.A. CONVENTION OPENS DRIVE TO IMPROVE CHILD HEALTH

COUNTY AND IS SOUGHT BY GROUP

300 Delegates Take Part In District Session At Yorba Linda

YORBA LINDA.—Start of a drive to obtain social security nursing service for mothers and children in Orange county featured the annual meeting of the Fourth district Parent-Teacher association here yesterday. More than 300 delegates attended the session.

Adoption of a phase of the social security act, which would provide the home nursing service was urged in a resolution adopted by the delegates. County supervisors will be urged to set up such a service in the county, it was decided.

Resolutions Told
It was the first meeting of the fiscal year, and Mrs. H. C. Brown presided. In addition to passing resolutions for securing nursing service, another resolution urged the state P.T.A. board to establish a bureau on peace education under the state board, and another urged passing of Assembly Bill 1526, intended to safeguard consumers against using milk from tubercular cattle.

One of the largest crowds in the history of fourth district attended the meeting. Besides the business, there were an art exhibit of work of parents, and the judges chose pieces to enter in the state convention exhibit at Pasadena in May; awards for participation in the musical events; for attendance, and magazine subscription attainments were given out. The musical program was offered by the children of the Yorba Linda grammar school in the morning, and by mixed adult and children's groups in the afternoon.

Schedule Arranged
The schedule for the coming year also was arranged, with the first meeting of the Fourth district set for Placentia in September; Tustin in November; Seal Beach in January; and Garden Grove in April, while the president's conferences will be held at Huntington Beach in October; Anaheim in February, and Fullerton in March.

Another feature of the program was awarding of two life memberships. Presentation of a life membership means that monies used to purchase it goes to the scholarship fund. Mrs. D. Eymann Huss Huff was presented one by Mrs. W. M. Kelsay on behalf of the Fourth District, while Mrs. Robertson presented one to Mrs. Evadne K. Perry, art supervisor of county schools, and art chairman of the district.

Chairmen Report
Dr. Charles Ruby talked briefly in the morning on "What Price Health and Beauty." District chairman gave brief reports at the morning session and during the afternoon 60 membership awards were given out. Mrs. J. B. Horner and with Mrs. Oleta Edwards accompanying; the Orange county chorus, led by Mrs. Mabel Seeds Spizzy, and with Mrs. Rachel Williams accompanying; the La Mesa chorus, made up of mothers of the La Mesa, Anaheim, Magnolia, Orangeflower, Savannah, and Katella P.T.A.'s, with Mrs. Spizzy directing and Wanda Marshall accompanying; the Hoover school, Garden Grove, chorus of mothers and daughters, with the Trio Mexicano accompanying; the Westminster mothers' chorus, with Orion Behermeyer directing and Mrs. Black accompanying, and the Santa Ana council chorus, with Mrs. Lorena Graves directing and Miss Osborn accompanying.

Exhibits Named
Those who will have articles in the competitive art exhibit at Pasadena are John Mitchell, Garden Grove High school; Ruth Bowman, Katella; Mrs. Marguerite North, Katella; Mrs. Hugh E. Roberts, Katella; Miss Eleanor Youngstrom, Laguna Beach; Mrs. B. E. Baumbach, and Mrs. W. G. Kilpatrick, Anaheim; Mrs. Pedro Delgado, Olive; Mrs. Albert Garthe, Santa Ana; Mrs. Art M. Anderson, Santa Ana; Mrs. Martha Landell, and Mrs. Ora Looney, Buena Park; Mrs. Lucie Siems, Centralia; Mrs. Everett, Garden Grove grammar school; Mrs. L. T. Simmons, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Zella Salveson, Mr. and Mrs. John Rymer, and Mrs. Oscar Carlson, Placentia; Mrs. Hazel Gillison and Mrs. Fern Vipond, Savannah; Mrs. Roy Davis, Westminster; Mrs. Mary Sparks, Mrs. Ruth Chapman, Miss Madeleine Conover, Yorba Linda, and Mrs. Bertha Kirven, Garden Grove.

The next district meeting will be June 3 at Cypress.

Mrs. S. A. Miller received first prize for high score in bridge and Mrs. Suess was awarded second.

MAN of the WEEK

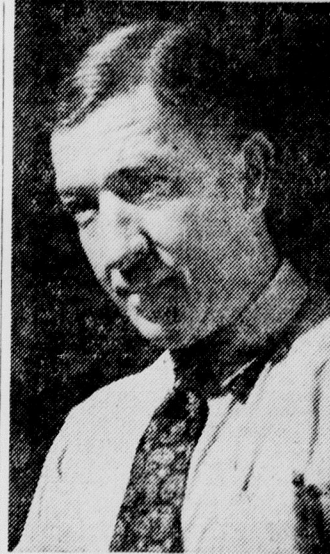

Step right up and meet Orange county's Man of the Week. He's been selected to appear here because of his interest in his community and because friends claim he's a real fellow. Here he is!

This week's Man of the Week is Frank Rospow, newspaper publisher, who claims he never takes a good picture.

Here, however, you see Publisher Rospow at work showing piles of type around in his back shop. You can't see the type, but it's there, anyway. He's been in the newspaper business all of his life, starting at an early age in Kansas. He admits to having held a couple of other jobs, but his employers made him quit, so he came back into the writing fold.

Rospow arrived in California in 1923. He obtained his first taste of California editorial tactics by publishing the Yorba Linda Star. He remained there for five years. In 1928 he took over the Placentia Courier, which he has since published.

During the past year he served as president of the California Newspaper Publishers' association, setting all sorts of records for traveling far and doing much. In addition to his work, he professes to dislike work, he gets things done. He enters with enthusiasm all civic programs and claims that weekly editors are closer to the people than almost any other type of journalist. And he prints a good newspaper, which folks read.

ALONG ORANGE COUNTY'S WATER FRONT

All right, boys and girls and you grouchily old mugs, too! Let's all get together and sing—"The rains are over and spring's here. Ta-ta-ta-ta. Or maybe you'd better sing it, but it's true, anyway."

Weather, fair for tonight and Sunday, or some weatherman's trying to make a mug out of this department. They promised a storm for Friday, but it went away for awhile, showing that our rains really are gone. That makes for better boating and swimming and fishing.

Oh yes, and better fishing, too.

There's a honey of an evening tide for surf and bay angling tomorrow. Also for swimming, if you're interested. At exactly 5:28 p. m. the water will rise to 4.1 feet, which is very fine for croaker and corbina anglers. Another high at 3:12 in the morning, which is too early even for surfers. Lows at 10:34 a. m. and 11:04 p. m.

The bay will all the spot, incidentally, for anglers. That big croaker run is still going strong, and it's almost impossible to get within looking distance of the Lido Isle bridge, where the most and biggest are rumored by the Lido Islander to have been caught. Lots of other good spots in the bay, however. Clams for bait. Clams and lots of patience. Have a try at it!

On out on the big, wide ocean, the angling situation is picking up considerably. Darrell King told this department so, and Darrell never gives out foolish info. Thursday was dark and unpleasant, and the baracuda sorta took a day off, but lots of bass and halibut, and a few other brands were brought in on the live-baiters.

Incidentally, Darrell has changed the schedule for his Valencia III and Sunshine. Valencia leaves Newport pier at 6 a. m. from now on, while the Sunshine departs an hour later, also from Newport pier. Plenty of lots and lots of fish, good things to eat in the galley—well, why go on?

Really, they have been bringing in yellowtail. Several of every live bait boat. A few for the trollers. Plenty of baracuda when the sun's shining.

Starboats were most in evidence in boat building shops about the bay this week. Snowbird skippers naturally were the bayer craft, and many have orders in this season.

Swift and graceful, the racer must be built in accordance with the strict regulations and specifications for its class if the owner hopes to compete in any regatta. Without getting down to inches, a Star is less than a hand's width under 23 feet, with a beam nearing six feet, a sail area of 280 square feet, and plenty of lead in the keel.

Carrying mainsail and jib and lots of speed, she is much too fast for the amateur to handle; but, according to those who know, there's nothing like it. The Star has something that gets them all. Newport Bay builders have turned out many famous Stars, including the world-champion BYC built by Don Douglas for Hook Beardsley. Tom Dittmar has built his share.

Another Star builder is Tom Broadway, who is said to be the oldest boat builder in time of service on Newport Bay. He has a reputation for sturdy Snowbirds, too.

McAlary and Mark Johnson usually have Stars somewhere about the shop, and right now Don Douglas has as many as he can turn out this season.

Boat sales have passed the point of being individually noted. Too many are being made each week as the season now rises rapidly to its crest.

The two sons of Mrs. Dorothy H. Collins of Monrovia, however, should be pleased with the 21-foot stopped for inspection. It may be your turn tomorrow, so watch out! Also, the Coast Guard cutter will be in the harbor every Sunday to help out the harbor-master, which goes to show they mean business!

Some day when you want to have a lot of fun drop in for a chat with Capt. J. P. McNally, right next to J. P. Greely's pavilion in Balboa. Does he like to talk about boating and fishing?

Some way or other, we got around to talking about fishing in Mexico. Fun! Charter trips to Ensenada and beyond. And fish stories you have trouble swallowing. Like the one where three bass were caught on the same line at the same time. One on the hook and the other two just hanging on to shiny parts of the equipment. McNally's an honest man, too.

And then talk of trips to our channel islands. Goat and bear hunting and slaying of monsters of the deep.

He's a good story teller. And if you ever get a chance to go out on the Dundee or Dandy, don't miss it! Beautiful boats, and ready to go anywhere at any time.

El Mirador, 34-foot sportfisherman owned by Tom Hovey, L.A. newspaperman, is receiving her annual going-over at the hands of capable Jack Reis. Last year the craft was judged first in the annual yacht inspection at Newport Harbor Yacht club.

From the preparation, she'll be a high contender again this year.

Heinz Kaiser, Baron of the Upper Bay, was somewhat puzzled during the past week when a fisherman brought in a very rare horn shark from somewhere above the state highway bridge, where croaker fishing is most excellent.

The horn shark, of which only one other specimen is supposed to have been caught in recent years, has two—guess what?—yeah, two horns, right behind his head. He was about three feet long, and will be preserved in alcohol or stuffed or something.

"Oregon Webfoot," 56-foot ketch being taken on a world cruise by her owner, Dave S. Brown, should arrive at Newport within a short time for a month's stay.

The owner wrote to Harbor-master Bouche, telling him he'd leave Frisco the 18th—tomorrow—and should arrive shortly

Word to the Wise department. It's a secret really, but we can't resist helping out boatowners a bit and maybe saving 'em a bit of trouble.

Beginning right now, laws concerning overloading boats and the number of life preservers to be carried are going to be enforced very strictly.

Harbor-master Tommy Bouche whispered that news yesterday. He should know—he's the guy who does most of the enforcing. So, after this make sure there aren't too many people aboard, and that there's a preserver for each. Also that the proper fire extinguisher is at hand. Yeah, and the jolly old foghorn, and other necessary equipment is in shape.

after. Hitch-hikers, probably, won't be welcomed.

Surf fishermen have been slaying the yellowfin croaker opposite the bathhouse at Newport. From there on down to the Santa Ana river jetty. Soft shelled crabs best for bait, although many caught on rock worms. Take your choice!

Natation was the news note on Newport Bay today. Swimming classes were their first work-out of the season. Starting with more than 100 school children and adults in suits on the sands of the bayfront, where elementary work is done, the classes were well to more than 600 in mid-season, according to records of the local school.

Last week eighth graders took their life-saving tests and others were due to try-out today.

Every year a junior aquatic meet discloses how well instruction has been absorbed by the young swimmers and students. The meet has been scheduled for August this year.

Classes are held at the height of the season on all shores of the bay. Lido Isle, Balboa Island, Corona del Mar, Balboa and Newport each have selected sites where the school's instruction meet with pupils living near by for work-outs in swimming and diving, too.

Young boys and girls take to diving with the greatest of ease, but adults don't do so well, according to the instructors. Adults are too dignified or something to let themselves go and achieve the knack of balancing the body in mid-air.

The millennium for sport fishermen has arrived! The perplexing problem of split-second shots of where "they're hitting best" right at the target has been solved. The word can come direct from the fishing grounds to the angler even before he leaves his easy chair at home.

Ship-to-shore radio telephone in conjunction with commercial broadcast stations of the answer. Flash news for fishermen by ship-to-shore radio telephone relay to land broadcast stations for home receivers of waiting anglers was the problem being worked out today by Skipper George Leavitt of the Blue Goose, who, in partnership with Walter G. Franz, has acquired the Newport-Balboa agency for Marine Radio.

No businessman wants to waste his day off taking a chance on where they were being yesterday. Leavitt explained. "He wants to know where the big ones are right this minute. Ship-to-shore radio telephone can bring the news to him just that quick."

First experiments would be made using the sport fishing fleet

ORANGE.—Judge LeRoy Dawson, who presides over a Los Angeles municipal court, will speak before the April meeting of the Orange Men's club Monday night in the parish house of the Trinity Episcopal church.

Judge Dawson formerly presided at the midnight court of that city, and will tell many human interest stories observed in his work. He is a World War veteran, and lost an eye in one of the battles.

The program has been arranged by a committee made up of E. E. Campbell, R. C. Bunch and M. M. Fishback, Judge J. E. Tucker, Santa Ana, the president will conduct the business meeting.

MISSION GROUP MEETS AT M. C.

MIDWAY CITY.—The Woman's Missionary society of the Community church met at the home of Mrs. W. C. Wilson on Van Buren street Thursday afternoon. Mrs. E. A. Holly led the devotional service, and Mrs. Boyd Fury concluded the review of the study book, "Congo Crosses."

Other numbers on the program included readings by Carolyn Fury and Miss Talcon, Garden Grove, and a vocal solo by Mrs. William Keetch, accompanied by Miss Lenhart.

Present were Mrs. Fred Foley, Mrs. Boyd Fury, Miss Robina Brentlinger, Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger, Mrs. Robert Hazard, Mrs. C. N. Jones, Mrs. Howton, Mrs. Harry Kingsbury, Mrs. E. A. Holly, Mrs. Leslie Stone, Mrs. R. L. Johnson, Mrs. Georgia Day Robertson, Mrs. Keetch, Miss Talcon, and Miss Lenhart, Garden Grove.

CROWD ATTENDS ORANGE PLAY

ORANGE.—A large audience viewed the senior class play, "The Bishop Misbehaves," at the high school Friday night, assuring an adequate sum for the purchase of a farewell gift from the class.

Wayne Tarvin as the Bishop was both dignified and amusing while all of the other parts were portrayed in a most realistic manner. The high school orchestra, under the direction of Percy Green played four numbers.

Miss Shirley Haynes, drama teacher was coach, and members of the stagecraft class were in charge of scenery and properties.

of the Star and Crescent company operating out of San Diego, all of which craft have marine radio telephone installations. Leavitt said. Sport fishermen with headquarters in Newport Bay would be included in the scheme as soon as they have been similarly equipped.

Cooperation of the telephone company through its marine radio exchange at San Pedro, and local land broadcast stations, was believed assured. Linking the flash news with the regular bulletins scheduled for broadcast by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce was one method suggested.

"Marine radio for sport fishing and pleasure craft has ended the need for doubt and disappointment of holiday anglers," Leavitt said. They don't have to wonder whether the fishing is better somewhere else. All they need to do is give the other boat a ring and find out. Ship-to-shore marine radio telephone sets naturally function from ship-to-ship with equal ease."

Range of the sets has been found to be more than 1800 miles. Leavitt has reported many conversations of the Sea Scout training ship Stranger, and expected to be in touch with her again late today, as the big yacht returns toward Long Beach from southern seas.

Many Newport Bay yachts have sets installed, and others have ordered them for installation before the summer cruising season begins, Leavitt said.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Finding necessity the mother of invention, F. J. Benneson, Laguna druggist, solved the whipped cream problem for his establishment and gives promise of a profitable invention which he has just patented.

The device is a time and labor-saving cream-whipping machine which, operating with a harmless gas, produces three and one-half gallons of whipped cream from one gallon of the original. Generally under ordinary methods, two gallons is the maximum to be obtained.

Benneson is also the inventor of a soft drink, "Snappy," which soon will be on the market.

There was a crack of light beneath it.

Just as she was raising her hand to knock, she heard voices inside. Two voices—low and tense. Nick's voice—and not it couldn't be! But there was no mistake—Gregory was in there!

Nita listened tensely, her hand going to her throat. "She belongs to me! You hear?" she heard Gregory say. "What do you mean?"

High-pitched, came Gregory's answer. "She is my wife!"

Nita flung the door open. "You cad!" she cried, her eyes blazing at Gregory.

She did not see the gun in his hand as he hastily thrust it into his pocket.

Furiously, she continued. "For five years you've gone your way, and I've gone mine. And now, just because we happen to meet here by chance, you dare to come sneaking to Nick's room to rob me of my chance with some one I love!"

Gregory gazed at her dumbly. Nick stepped toward her. "Is what he says true? Are you his wife?" he asked, his voice scarcely more than a whisper.

"She can't deny it," Gregory answered. "And what she says is a lie—I have not gone my way, as she would have you believe. I never stopped trying to persuade her to come back to me."

Nita looked at him, geranium lips curved in scorn.

"I married you when I was just a kid," she said. "When I didn't know what I was doing. We happened to be thrown together and I foolishly thought I was in love with you—but I know now that I never was!"

She turned to Nick. "Darling, I had no reason to tell you this before. I would have told you now, of course. I've been planning, for some time, to arrange for a divorce. Surely, a foolish step I took when I was a girl—no girl cannot be held against me now?"

Nick was deaf to the appeal in her voice and eyes.

INFURIATED, she turned back to Gregory. "You—and your stupid mouthings about love and a reconciliation! Get out of here! Get out! I tell you! And from now on, leave me alone, and stop persecuting me with your silly letters and your melodramatic scenes. I want to forget I ever knew you! Tell him, Nick—please tell him to get out, and never come near me again!"

Nick said nothing, looking from her to Gregory and back again. Gregory sighed wearily. "I see now how it is. You came here to Nicholas Garnett's room of your own accord. You were as anxious to go with him as he was to have you. I thought he had fooled you—tricked you with false, empty promises of marriage."

"Will you please get out!" Nita raged.

Gregory's eyes suddenly sharpened. He saw, for the first time, the glitter of the diamond ring on her left hand. He gazed at it, fascinated. It could signify only one thing.

"I am a fool!" he said, his voice anguished.

He suddenly pulled the revolver from his pocket and lifted the muzzle to his temple.

Nita screamed.

FUGITIVE BRIDE by RUTH LOUISE AYERS

Three days before Martha Halliday, daughter of a wealthy banker, is to marry Nick Garnett, playboy scion of a fine old family, she overhears gossip that he is marrying her only for her money. Also, she knows that he has been trailing a dancer, Nita Lombard, on her tour about the country. Martha decides to run away from her wedding. She arranges to "ghost" old lady, Mrs. Dudley Brannigan, who thinks Nita looks like her dead daughter, has come to her room and thrust a diamond ring upon her.

CHAPTER XXIV
NITA kept gazing at Mrs. Brannigan's diamond ring on her left hand as she continued her packing. She thought gloating that, from now on, she would have many gorgeous jewels like this—Nick would lavish them on her.

She must not, however, keep this one. She would wear it away and then have Nick send it back to the old lady. She would tell him the story—telling it a touch of pathos, and emphasizing her own sympathetic part in it.

Finished packing, she put on her hat, and sat down to wait for Nick. Mentally, she rehearsed the new story she must tell him. She must speak—but not too convincingly—of the folly of this step they were taking. And then, in complete surrender, she would cry in his arms and tell him that—folly or no—she was ready to go to the ends of the world with him.

It was time he was here. She rose, and nervously paced the floor. Why didn't he come? "Oh," she breathed impatiently. "Hurry, Nick—hurry!"

She paused by the desk. Should she write a note to Gregory—telling him that she was leaving, and that she quite definitely never wanted to see him again? It might be a good idea. It would prepare him for the news he would hear later.

She sat down and wrote. "My dear Gregory," but threw down the pen when she realized that her hand was shaking.

SHE stood up and looked at her wrist watch. It was long past the half hour that Nick had set. What was keeping him? Had he suddenly changed his mind and decided that this escape with her was impossible?

At this thought, her eyes darkened. She wasn't going to let him get away with anything like that! To make her get all ready and then let her down!

She would go and see what had happened to him. His room, he had told her, was on the third floor. He had mentioned the number, and it came back to her now. She left her room and stealthily mounted the stairs to the third floor. She soon located his door.

She opened it.

There was a crack of light beneath it.

Just as she was raising her hand to knock, she heard voices inside. Two voices—low and tense. Nick's voice—and not it couldn't be! But there was no mistake—Gregory was in there

TAYLOR, HARLOW STAR IN FARCE COMING TO BROADWAY SUNDAY

MOVIE'S PLOT IS LAID IN LONDON

'Personal Property' Is Title; 'Big Names' in Supporting Cast

Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor form the new star combination presented by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the comedy-romance, "Personal Property," which begins a four-day engagement at the Broadway theater Sunday, topping a new double feature program with the thriller, "Midnight Taxi."

Taylor, current idol of the screen, and Miss Harlow head a "hand-picked" cast that boasts Reginald Owen, distinguished character actor; Una O'Connor, player of cockney British parts; Cora Witherspoon, comedienne who won fame in "Piccadilly Jim" and "Quality Street"; and E. E. Clive, player of sympathetic mother roles; Forrester Harvey, E. E. Clive, Maria Shelton and others.

Miss Harlow is given one of her greatest opportunities for her talents as a comedienne and she gives Taylor a close run for acting laurels in this farce. The role is that of an American widow, harassed by debts. In an endeavor to keep up a "front" she runs herself more deeply into debt with the result that her creditors make use of the English custom of assigning a sheriff's assistant to take up his post in her house and to watch her personal property to make certain she does not sell anything. In desperation, Jean resolves to marry Reginald Owen, a pompous Englishman, whom she believes to be wealthy.

It is Taylor who has the part of the sheriff's assistant, and still more complicated, he is the brother of Owen. The fun results when Miss Harlow implores him not to "give her away" before the man she wants to marry, realizing he is the brother of her fiancé. The rivalry of the brothers begins when they meet at a party given by the widow to impress the family and Taylor is persuaded to take the part of her butler. The story carries through to an hilarious finish when Taylor convinces his brother that Jean is a designing woman, whereupon he promptly marries the girl himself.

Brian Donlevy and Francis Drake are featured in "Midnight Taxi," film of the government's counterfeiters.

CHINA PASSAGE TO SHOW SOON

"China Passage," an action-packed mystery drama, has its first showing at the Broadway theater next Thursday on a twin bill with Dick Foran's outdoor epic, "Cherokee Pass."

Brimming with suspenseful situations, "China Passage" begins with the theft of a huge diamond from a Shanghai jewelry store. One of seven suspects have the stone, and all seven take passage on a liner bound for San Francisco. One of the suspects early turns out to be the heroine, a girl agent of the U. S. customs service, whose interest in the missing gem is purely professional. The hero is an adventurous American from whose custody the gem was stolen and who is determined to recover it at any cost.

The interplay between these two, and their rivalry in trying to locate the jewel, motivates most of the action.

Constance Worth has the role of the customs lady and Vinton Haworth, Leslie Fenton and Gordon Jones share leading honors with the new star. The cast includes Joyce Compton, Alec Craig and Dick Elliott.

Another of the "Our Gang" comedies is scheduled to screen on the same program.

'I Promise To Pay' at Broadway Will End Tonight

"I Promise to Pay," Columbia's dramatic film which is a daring expose of the loan shark mobsters that bleed the American people of millions every year, ends its local engagement tonight at the Broadway theater, as does the hilarious P. G. Wodehouse tale, "Step Lively, Mr. Jeeves."

Chester Morris and Helen Mack are starred in the drama with Leo Carrillo in the chief supporting role. Other players include Thomas Mitchell, Thurston Hall, Patsy O'Connor and John Gallaudet.

A mobster's criminal error makes Wodehouse's lovable "gentleman's gentleman" tear loose to teach gangland to mend its manners in "Step Lively, Mr. Jeeves." The story plunges Arthur Treacher, in the role of the reserved and very proper Jeeves, into a mad mixup of shooting, gangsters and assorted varieties of giddy misadventures, highlighted by his proper interest in the romantic problems of his only two friends in America, Patricia Ellis and Robert Kent.

An outstanding attraction on the closing program is the Grantland Rice short, "Wrestling," which features the commentary remarks of sportland's ace announcer, Ted Husing.

Aden, Arabia, is shipping more goatskins to the United States than in recent years.

Harlow, Taylor Teamed for First Time

Teamed for the first time, Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor, shown above, will open at the Broadway tomorrow in "Personal Property." Others in the cast will include Reginald Owen, Una O'Connor and E. E. Clive. The activities of the government treasury agents will be graphically portrayed in "Midnight Taxi," which features Brian Donlevy, Frances Drake, Sig Ruman, Alan Dinehart and Gilbert Roland.

Three Stars in 'Last of Mrs. Cheyney'

Robert Montgomery, William Powell and Joan Crawford are shown above in a scene from "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," which opens Sunday at Walker's theater for an engagement of four days. On the same bill is a comedy-romance, "Love Is News," featuring Tyrone Power, Don Ameche and Loretta Young.

JOHN TRENT LOCAL BOY WHO 'MADE GOOD' IN MOVIES

John Trent . . . one of the few native born Californians in pictures . . . declares he is just another country boy who went wrong . . . born on his father's orange ranch in Orange, and raised there . . . had to go to New York to get in pictures. . . B. P. Schulberg, perhaps the most noted of Hollywood's "star finders," discovered him in cockpit of giant TWA plane . . . he was pilot on the New York to Kansas City run . . . saw possibilities for screen career . . . persuaded him to sign a seven-year contract . . . thus, Larry Verne Browne, well known local boy, became John Trent . . . screen star!

"John Meade's Woman" was the first picture he appeared in. "A Doctor's Diary" playing at the Broadway is his first starring picture. Trent was educated in the grammar schools and high school of Orange, and graduated in an engineering course at the Hancock Foundation college in Santa Maria. There he also took his aviation course.

Next to signing his contract for motion pictures, says greatest moment came when he had saved enough money to buy his first plane. His family had been hit by the depression in 1929 and although they provided for his education, could hardly buy him a plane, so he scaped and saved until he had one. "I found him flying and doing a lot of barnstorming in Virginia, with headquarters in Danville. From there he went to Kansas City where he served his apprenticeship as a copilot, and has served for two-and-a-half years as pilot on this important run during which time he safely carried many motion picture and stage stars, and people of international fame without an accident. Making the round trip from Kansas City to New York and return every six days.

He is gathering material to write a book on the funny and dramatic things that happen aboard transport ship. Trent is six feet tall, weighs 175. You are probably not familiar with the new name, but when you see him on the screen you'll recognize him as the popular young chap who was so much in demand by our fair sex here a few years ago.

Marilyn Miller's Mate Sues For Slice Of Her Estate

NEW YORK. (AP)—The $63,000 trust fund that pretty Marilyn Miller earned with her dancing in the movies and before Broadway's footlights was the object of a court battle today, just a year and a week after her death.

A suit filed by Chester Leo O'Brien, former chorus boy, who of the third and last husband of the noted dancer-actress, led to the present action in which the City Bank Farmers Trust company, as trustee, asked a judicial ruling as to whether the trust should be classed as part of Miss Miller's general estate.

In the hearing on the trust company's suit, it was brought out that O'Brien has an action pending to claim 50 per cent of the principal trust fund as a dower right.

But Marilyn's sisters, Mrs. Clare Montgomery and Mrs. Ruth Sweeney, insist it isn't entitled to a penny. Through their attorney they informed the court that O'Brien had abandoned the dancer months before she died.

Unless O'Brien can establish a valid claim to a part of the trust, it was reported he will receive nothing from the estate as the other assets are less than the general debts and liabilities.

In her will, made on April 23, 1931, more than three years before she married O'Brien, Miss Miller bequeathed $13,000 to her mother, Mrs. Ado Thompson Miller, and $25,000 to her father, Edwin Reynolds of Silect, La.

The trust fund, created on July 26, 1935, was to provide an income of $150 weekly for the actress' mother.

Agent Who Sued Actress, Loses

NEW YORK. (AP)—John D. Williams, former Frohman press agent and director, yesterday lost his fight to collect money from Maude Adams, the actress, for bringing her out of retirement in 1927 and 1930.

Williams originally sued Miss Adams for 203,000 and won a $25,000 verdict. Miss Adams moved to have the verdict dismissed unless Williams agreed to take only $50,000. Williams refused.

The court then dismissed Williams' suit.

BOBBY'S SISTER TO WED
HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Bobby Breen, juvenile screen star, will lose his "little mother" June 28 when his sister and guardian, Sally Breen, goes to the altar with Lewis Roth, Arizona mining man. Today they set the wedding day.

TWO HITS ON NEW BILL AT WALKER'S

Two of the brightest romantic comedies of the current movie season are scheduled for showing on a double program that opens Sunday at Walker's theater, booked for an engagement of four days.

One is "Love Is News," starring Tyrone Power, Loretta Young and Don Ameche, and the other is "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," with William Powell, Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery in the leading roles.

"Love Is News" is a wild story of an heiress who seeks revenge on a reporter by announcing for publication that she is engaged to marry him, instead of a fortune-hunting count. Discharged because he missed the story of his own "engagement," the reporter finds himself in more hot water when the heiress tells the newspapers he is a millionaire, thus leaving him open to every salesman in the big city. But the reporter turns the tables when he announces he is going into the movies to portray the "great lover" because of his experiences with the heiress. Everything ends well, however, when the girl and reporter discover they really love each other.

Others in the cast with them are Slim Summerville, Dudley Digges, Walter Catlett, George Sanders, Jane Darrow and Stepin Fetchit. "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" tells the story of a girl who poses as a wealthy widow in order to gain entrance to the home of a wealthy dowager whose pearls she plans to steal for the gang of crooks with which she is involved. But the nephew of the rich woman falls in love with the girl crook and despite her entanglements he insists upon marrying her, thus shielding her from prosecution and from her crooked friends.

Besides Powell, Montgomery and Miss Crawford, the cast includes such players as Frank Morgan, Jessie Ralph, Nigel Bruce, Benita Hume, Ralph Forbes, Aileen Pringle and Colleen Clark. A Mickey Mouse cartoon and a newsreel round out the program.

'A STAR IS BORN' BOOKED HERE

Previewed just a few days ago in Los Angeles, "A Star Is Born" proved such a hit that exhibitors started clamoring immediately for early showings of the Technicolor hit. Manager Les Fountain succeeded in booking it for the Broadway theater at the earliest possible date, beginning a local engagement a week from Sunday.

The story of "A Star Is Born" offers a straightforward account of how a young woman reared in North Dakota got into motion pictures and ultimately won an Academy award. It's a startling human interest drama realistically portraying the heartbreak, despair and bitterness that so often are the accompaniments of screen success. Yet it is by no means lacking in comedy contrast, love interest, and swift, vigorous action, plot complications and suspense.

Janet Gaynor is cast as the "small town" girl grown up, wise to the ways of the world, capable of grappling with fate, who wanted screen fame and upon whom luck smiled. Frederic March is seen as the brilliant motion picture star whose fame fades as that of his protegee blossoms. The supporting cast includes Alice Maynor, May Robson, Andy Devine, Lionel Stander, Edgar Kennedy and Owen Moore.

Comedy, Western Films at West Coast Next Week

How a snappy and self-assured young sergeant in the U. S. army dares to bet his mates that he will eat breakfast with the general, whom he has never seen, and how he wins his wager, form the farcical background for the screen story, "23½ Hours Leave," which today is the double feature program at the West Coast next week.

James Ellison plays the part of the swanky sergeant in the Mary Roberts Rinehart story, and Terry Walker plays the part of the general's lovely daughter, while Paul Harvey is seen in the character of the general. Others in the supporting cast are Morgan Hill, handsome young husband of Fifi D'Orsay who is making his screen debut in this picture; Arthur Lake, Wally Maher, Pat Gleason and Ward Bond.

The twin feature on the coming program will be the latest of the "Hopalong Cassidy" series, "Hills of Old Wyoming." William Boyd is again cast in the role of Cassidy. The action and romance of this film centers about the Indians who are used by a crooked government agent to screen his cattle stealing. The redmen, aroused to a fanatical frenzy by the agent, are ready to war on the ranchers when Cassidy exposes the crooked agent and leads the Indians into battle with the rustling gang.

George Hayes, Stephen Morris, Clara Kimball Young, and a new saddle mate, Russell Hayden, are also cast.

Charley Chase, king of short feature comedians, is also to be seen on the coming program in his latest funfest, "On the Wrong Trek."

Bette Davis Returns to Screen

Absent from the screen for nearly a year, Bette Davis, who won last year's Academy Award as the greatest dramatic actress in pictures, comes to the West Coast theater tomorrow in "Marked Woman," a daring expose of clip joints. She will be supported by Humphrey Bogart, Isabel Jewel, Eduardo Ciannelli and Lola Lane. "Let's Get Married," a rollicking comedy with Ida Lupino, Ralph Bellamy and Walter Connolly, will be the twin feature.

Two Generals in 'General Spanky'

Spanky McFarland and Phillips Holmes are pictured here in a scene from "General Spanky," which opens Sunday at the State theater, with "Riff Raff," starring Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy, as the other feature on the twin bill. The program is scheduled for a three-day engagement.

BETTE DAVIS STATE SHOWS 'RIF RAFF' SUNDAY

Noteworthy in several respects is the melodrama, "Marked Woman," starring Bette Davis and featuring Humphrey Bogart and Eduardo Ciannelli in addition to a number of other prominent players, which will have its local premiere at the West Coast theater tomorrow as the dominating feature on a new twin bill. The second feature, "Let's Get Married," is another of the Columbia studio's comedy hits.

"Marked Woman," brings back to the screen after an extended holiday, the blonde emotional actress who last year won the gold statuette of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance by any feminine player. The year before, Miss Davis was a runner-up for the award for her work in "Human Bondage."

The picture has a strong story dealing with the plight of a group of night club hostesses who are the unwilling tools of a big time racketeer and his ruthless gang. The story was taken from the newspaper accounts of the New York gang leader who recently figured in the headlines. Miss Davis is shown as one of a group of hostesses under the domination of the boss racketeer. The other girls are Isabel Jewel, Jane Bryan, Lola Lane, Rosalind Marcus and May Methot.

Ciannelli, the villain of "Winter-set," plays the head man of the fearless prosecution.

"Let's Get Married," based on a Saturday Evening Post story, has Ida Lupino, Ralph Bellamy and Walter Connolly in the principal roles, with Raymond Walburn heading the support cast. The story hinges on the romance of Miss Lupino, daughter of Politician Connolly, and Ralph Bellamy, a government weather forecaster.

Texas last year produced 13,400,000 of the nation's 15,986,000 pounds of mohair, according to department of agriculture figures.

A red-blooded drama of the waterfront is "Riff Raff," starring Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy, which tops the double program opening Sunday at the State theater for an engagement of three days. The other feature on the bill is "General Spanky," starring little Spanky McFarland and Phillips Holmes.

Miss Harlow in "Riff Raff" plays the role of a waterfront girl who loves the swaggering boss of the district, played by Tracy. She steals for him and goes to prison, her sacrifice finally bringing about the man's regeneration.

With them in the cast are Una Merkel, Joseph Galleia, Victor Kilian, Mickey Rooney, J. Farrell McDonald, Roger Imhoff and others.

In "General Spanky," little Spanky McFarland plays the role of an orphan of a Mississippi river boat whom Holmes protects against the villainies of a gambler. When the Civil war breaks out, Holmes becomes a captain in the Southern army and the gambler a captain in the Northern army. Spanky and his little friends are in developing a romance between Holmes and Rosina Lawrence, and because of their friendship for a Northern general they bring about the downfall of the gambler.

Others in the cast with the boy, Holmes and Miss Lawrence are Ralph Morgan, Irving Pichel, Hobart Bosworth, Louise Beavers and Billie Thomas.

Twenty-Fourth of May Is Revealed to Friends as Nan Mead's Wedding Day

Quartet Fete
Mrs. Heim At Shower

Among the several delightful affairs ushering in the week-end was a dessert-bridge given this afternoon by a hostess quartet composed of Mrs. J. L. McBride, her daughter, Mrs. George Bradley, Mrs. George Preble (Martha Wallingford), and Mrs. Orville Shubart (Doris Rohrbacher).

The affair complimented Mrs. Albert Heim, who, as Dorothy Lewis, announced her marriage of over a year at a recent Sigma Theta meeting. Many of the guests invited this afternoon are sorority sisters of the honoree and hostesses, and all were delighted at the opportunity to shower the bride with pieces of the lovely crystal pattern she has chosen.

Prominent among the guests were Mrs. Heim's mother, Mrs. Fred Lewis, and her aunt, Miss Essie Lewis who is visiting here from Raymond, Wash. The mothers of Mrs. Preble and Mrs. Shubart, Mrs. L. D. Wallingford and Mrs. William Rohrbacher of Laguna Beach, also attended, as did Miss Gladys Marguerat, Miss Eleanor Yount, Miss Helen Westering, Miss Loretta Spangler, Miss Betty Wiswall, Miss Louise Ruop, Miss Betty Burkett, Miss Dorothy Preble, Mrs. William Jerome, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Irwin, Mrs. Ray Cartwright, Mrs. J. L. Plumb, Mrs. Gilbert Meisinger, Mrs. Hansel Coulson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Frank Hillgass of San Pedro, Mrs. Van Pomeroy, Mrs. Ernest Stump, Jr., Mrs. Q. L. Hardy, Mrs. Norman Paul, Mrs. Dwight Ainsworth of Huntington Park, and Mrs. Kenneth Savage of Balboa.

RUSSIA TO BE
SECTION TOPIC

Third travel section of Ebells, continuing its study of Russia, will hear Calvin C. Flint of the junior college faculty as its speaker when it meets next Friday at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse.

Mrs. L. K. Strong and Miss Blanche Collings are to be the hostesses for the afternoon. Mr. Flint has spent some time in Russia within the last few years, and will bring authoritative information on that country to his hearers.

Play Tournament Incentive
For Social Gaieties

As in the other 10 years of the existence of the Southern California Tournament of One-act Plays, which comes each spring as a climax to the season for the Santa Ana Community Players, this year's tourney will again be the incentive for a flurry of socializing and the delightful series of functions planned in connection with the two days of drama contests.

Each night before the presentations of tournament plays, which are to be given Friday and Saturday evenings, April 23 and 24, members and friends will gather for a 6 o'clock dinner and dancing, making reservations either at the tearoom or with Mrs. Robert Horn, phone 3910.

Receptions, informal in nature, will follow the two programs at the Ebells clubhouse, and on Saturday there is to be a tea at 4 o'clock in the patio, following the round table. All of the events are open to those who attend the programs.

Committees Named

To handle the general work of the tournament, Harry Hanson, president of the Santa Ana Players, has appointed the following committee chairman:

Manager, Mrs. Robert Horn; technical director, Mrs. Marshall Harnois; music, Elwood Bear; reception, Mrs. M. Burr Wellington; registration and information, Mrs. W. S. Spurgeon; refreshments, Mrs. John Swarthout; house, Frank Lansdowne; and dressing rooms, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Nalle.

As a reception committee for the gatherings after the plays, the following have been named to serve:

Establishing New Homes

Following announcements of their marriages in two Arizona towns, these two charming brides, one in Santa Ana and the other in Phoenix, Mrs. Roy Wellman, left, the former Edith Schreiner, who married April 4, 1936, in Kingman, Ariz., making announcement of the nuptials on her first wedding anniversary. At the right is Mrs. Ted Meece, who was Miss Johnnie Allen Musgrove before her marriage last March 18 in Phoenix. Her husband is a Huntington Beach man.

Chat Awhile With Betty

By BETTY COX

My, but we are getting conventional-minded when conventions are being held in such intriguing places as the Lake Norconian club, Del Monte, Coronado. Off to Norco this week-end go the B. and P. W. club delegates from all this time the southern district, 16 going from the Santa Ana club, and Fullerton members, we hear, planning to go back and forth the two days, thus enjoying two complete round trips through that interesting country. And in just about three weeks after their return from Norco they will start out in the other direction, heading toward Del Monte and the state convention.

Southerly breezes are calling Ebells and Junior Ebells members who will have Coronado and the beautiful old Coronado hotel as the setting for their meetings the middle of May.

And while we're talking about going places, which is a favorite topic all this time of the year, who of us wouldn't like to be sailing tonight with Eleanor Elliott on the Lurline for two glamorous months on the Hawaiian islands?

Those of us who must stay at home have compensations in the beautiful scenes which our Santa Ana streets and gardens are creating for us as they don their spring apparel of soft green and gay, dancing colors.

Last week the wisteria was at its best. This week, we have been noticing bridal wreath and roses, and lovely lawns.

Almost every yard in town, it seems, has snowy bushes of bridal wreath, so exquisitely beautiful this year, and so fragrant. So many of them that we can hardly mention any special ones, except those lovely sprays that Mrs. Estella Wilson brought us the other day.

Roses are everywhere, though not all abloom as yet. Visiting Mrs. Charles A. Riggs' garden

Biggest iris we've heard of in years is the lovely blue variety growing 69 inches tall in the garden of Mrs. Edward Walker. Higher than my head, and such a divine blue.

Mrs. Walker and nine other members of the Santa Ana Garden Study club went "garden-touring" this week and found a fairland of color and beauty in the Pasadena flower show in the Carmelita gardens near Brookside park.

It isn't just a show this year, they found, for instead of rows of displays inside a building, the exhibits are outdoors and in natural garden settings with little paths and seats and rock-lined walks.

The club members going over were Mrs. E. M. Redmond, Mrs. Harry McCormack, Mrs. Eugene Gruetner, Miss Ora Davis, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. C. W. Harrison, Miss Edith Stanley, Mrs. Lena McMillan, Mrs. W. T. Lambert, and Mrs. Ethel Durbin.

They also visited the Coolidge gardens, and there found other Santa Anans, among them Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop, Mrs. Hazel Turner, and Mrs. Blanche Strook.

Among visitors welcomed this week was Mrs. Ted Fulkerson, formerly with the telephone office in Santa Ana and now in the San Pedro office. And she was being escorted about town by her former boss, Earl Morrow, who was office manager when she was on duty here. Husband Ted Fulkerson, remembered as a Santa Ana shoe man, is in the shoe business in Long Beach now.

JUNIORS TO HONOR MOTHERS

Junior Legion Auxiliary made plans for its Mothers' Day program when it met Thursday in the Legion hall, Mrs. Ethel Brown and Miss Julia Magill assisting them in their arrangements. The members will meet at the hall next Thursday to practise for the program.

Mary Charlotte Hoover, president of the group, presided over the business session, appointing Nancy Neer to fill the vacancy by resignation of Margie Jean Johnson as secretary. Fifteen members and two visitors attended the meeting, which concluded with refreshments.

SECOND BOOK REVIEW

Second book review section of Junior Ebells will hear a book talk by Mrs. Maurice Enderle when it meets at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Walter Bacon, 1006 North Lowell street.

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Luncheon

All white and blue and gold was the lovely table in Danvers' tearoom at which Mrs. Lela Frumheim presided yesterday when she entertained at a pre-nuptial courtesy and luncheon in honor of Mrs. Dixie Clark, soon to become the bride of Gustave Straub.

Twelve places were marked by little gold-banded place-cards and the hostess used her own gold-banded china for the luncheon service. In the center, in a low rock crystal bowl, were long sprays of white ranunculi, blue delphinium, and blue cornflowers, extending out to the tall white tapers in rock crystal holders at either side.

Bows of filmy white tulle on the candles gave a bridal touch, and the wedding theme was further carried out in the individual wedding cakes with tiny bluebirds in the white frosting which were served with the dessert course.

As many of the guests had to leave after luncheon for the school, the showing of gift towels was presented to the bride-elect at the table, and unwrapping of the pretty packages filled the remainder of the hour after luncheon.

Invited to honor Mrs. Clark, who will be married to Mr. Straub in Long Beach on April 24, were the latter's mother, Mrs. Minna Straub, of Yonkers, N. Y., who has come out for the wedding; Mrs. Alice Peterson, Mrs. Walter Swabacher, Mrs. Otto Haan, Mrs. Frank Dazey, Mrs. George Dove, Miss Thelma King of Los Angeles, Mrs. Oren D. King of Costa Mesa, Mrs. Besse McClain and Mrs. Tim Oltman of Long Beach, Mrs. Hattie Williams, Mrs. J. H. Daniger, and the hostess.

NEWLYWEDS HONORED BY BRIDE'S FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert R. Howell honored a newly married daughter and her husband when they entertained at a lovely dinner courtesy Thursday night in their home at 1114 Oak street.

The guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Hurshall Parnell (Harriet Howell), whose marriage was an event of March 22 in Riverside and who will make their home on the Irvine ranch in the near future.

Twenty places at the family dinner table were designated for the Mr. and Mrs. Parnell, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hanson, Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Martin, Idus Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parnell, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom; the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walker, and the bride's parents and their three other daughters, Annette, Ama and Alice, and son, Roger.

The new Mrs. Parnell is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and a native daughter of this city, she received all of her schooling at Santa Ana and is employed on the Irvine ranch.

At the end of the delightful afternoon, table prizes prettily wrapped were awarded to Mrs. Harold Segerstrom, Mrs. Lyle Anderson, Mrs. Clara Johnson, Mrs. Theo Winbiger, Mrs. Parke Roper, and Mrs. Lewis Moulton.

RUTH BEEMER TO BE MARRIED
JUNE THE FIFTH

Nuptials that will occur June 5 were announced today at a pretty luncheon party given in honor of Miss Ruth Beemer, when her sister, Mrs. R. E. Walworth, and her mother, Mrs. J. E. Beemer, entertained 12 of her close friends.

The news of her approaching wedding to Robert McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. McFarland, was revealed in dainty corsages of rosebuds and fern beside each guest's place. Other spring flower decorations decorated the walls of the room at 1904 Orange avenue in which bridge was enjoyed after the luncheon had been consumed.

Guests of Mrs. Walworth and Mrs. Beemer were Mrs. I. W. McFarland, Mrs. J. E. Beemer, Mrs. Betty Selvidge, Mrs. Jane Newman, Miss Katherine Budd, Miss Florence Ulrich, Miss Betty Reed, Miss Vena Goodwin, Miss Dorothea McFarland, and Miss Charlotte Stewart.

Club members going over were Mrs. E. M. Redmond, Mrs. Harry McCormack, Mrs. Eugene Gruetner, Miss Ora Davis, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. C. W. Harrison, Miss Edith Stanley, Mrs. Lena McMillan, Mrs. W. T. Lambert, and Mrs. Ethel Durbin.

They also visited the Coolidge gardens, and there found other Santa Anans, among them Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Bishop, Mrs. Hazel Turner, and Mrs. Blanche Strook.

Among visitors welcomed this week was Mrs. Ted Fulkerson, formerly with the telephone office in Santa Ana and now in the San Pedro office. CLUB MEETS AT
RUMELL HOME

Snapdragons, roses and calendulas made colorful points of interest in the living room of Mrs. Charles P. Rumell when she entertained her contract club this week. A dessert course preceded the afternoon of bridge at which Mrs. Jesse Elliott scored high, and Mrs. Herbert Krahling, low.

In the absence of Mrs. S. A. Jones, Mrs. Francis Jacoby was a guest-substitute, and members present were Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Krahling, Mrs. F. A. Burkett, Mrs. John J. Vernon, Mrs. Don Mozley, Mrs. Clara Richards, and the hostess.

BENEFIT BRIDGE

A benefit dessert bridge party will be given Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Prentice, 1860 East First street, by members of the Ways and Means section of the Santa Ana Woman's club. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Earl Lepper at 5422-J, or Mrs. E. A. Elwell at 3719-W.

Two Busy Women Leaders

Elections are centering the attention of club circles in Santa Ana these early spring days, one yesterday placing Mrs. M. E. Geeting, right, back in office for another year as president of the Santa Ana League of Women Voters. Miss Lena Thomas, above, is attending a district convention of the Business and Professional Women's clubs this week-end as one of her last official duties before she turns over her gavel as president of the local club to Mrs. Laura McNaught, elected recently as her successor.

Looks To Stars For Guidance

Editor's note: Following is another of the series of articles on "Women in Unusual Occupations" which Dr. Mary E. Wright is preparing for The Journal. Others will follow.

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT

Noticing the great number of astrology and horoscope magazines appearing on newsstands everywhere these days, I stopped at one of the counters recently and asked the sales clerk who were the most enthusiastic purchasers of this type of reading matter.

His answer, that 75 per cent of the buyers were women, brought to mind one woman who might be able to explain to me this revived interest in astrology, and I went to call on Mrs. Ida Waters, who has been a student of the science of the stars and heavenly bodies over a long period.

Born Ida Bossi, of French and Italian parentage, she studied art under Eugene Meier in Paris, finding her versatile talent in both oils and ceramics.

In 1896, she was married to Mr. Waters, and later when they moved to Boston she had paintings hung in several of the galleries and took a first prize for her luster ware.

It was in 1905 that she began her profound study of astrology under one of the most noted teachers in Boston, Madame Durand, starting it as an avocation. Further study followed under Madame Vernorel in Paris, most noted European astrologer of her time.

Defines Astrology
"Astrology," to quote Mrs. Waters, "is a fascinating subject not for the amusement of fortune telling. To do justice to the subject requires a vast amount of research and concentration of thought, also time and money, for old manuscripts are not easily available and reliable books are expensive."

Astrology was recognized as a source of help to humanity and was in practical use in ages past, when it was in the hands of the learned of the nations, the prophets and the seers, according to Mrs. Waters.

Earliest records of the science date back to the "Fourth Race of Man," the Atlanteans, and one of its highest points was during the Toltic, a sub-race of the Atlantean. At that time, she stated, it served hand in glove with astronomy. It contained esoteric teachings which gave it great spiritual as well as practical value in helping humanity.

The magi of Chaldea were versed profoundly in the science of the celestial bodies, guiding affairs of state by advice based on the stars.

Mentioned in Bible
There are many references to astrology in the Bible, Mrs. Waters tells me, and she uses her science with a reverent mind.

"Great light may shine in the darkness of this troubled old world for individuals as well as for nations when the science of astrology is truly known, recognized, and applied," Mrs. Waters said further.

For a long period, she pointed out, astrology was in disrepute because it fell into the hands of the unscrupulous who used it basely to gain power.

On the belief that the stars impel, never compel, Mrs. Waters bases her work, now a vocation, in making horoscopes at birth and prognostications for present and future. These are particularly helpful in the young in overcoming weak characteristics and in helping to find the best studies to pursue for vocations later in life.

Since the Omnipotent Creator planned the universe so that the planets control the tides of the sea, it is not unreasonable to believe that the celestial bodies control the tides in the destinies of men, Mrs. Waters concluded.

Mother and Sisters Preside
At Dessert Bridge Today

That the month of May will be the wedding month of Miss Nan Mead, popular member of Santa Ana's Junior Ebells set, and Frank Curran, jr., was told this afternoon to a group of Santa Ana and out-of-town friends invited to a lovely spring party in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe. Mother and sisters of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Frank Mead, jr., presided as hostesses at the charming affair, for which a truly bridal scene had been created in a rainbow of springtime hues.

The pretty bride-to-be, wearing a frock of rose beige alpaca with corsage from her fiancé, joined the three in receiving the guests at 2 o'clock, and later she was accorded the place of honor at the U-shaped table around the curve of which, in stately procession, marched a bridal party in miniature.

Portrayed in detail, even to the tiniest little flower girl, the gay little figures added color to the scene with the flower tones of their wedding dresses, offering pretty contrast to the dignified white of the bridal gown and the customary black of bridegroom and his attendants.

Down Aisle of Ribbons
White ribbons, caught at intervals to little wooden posts in gum-drop standards, each twined with bridal wreath, formed the aisle down which the bridal party was presumably moving toward the wedding altar; and the aisle, filled with snowy sprays of bridal wreath, continued the length of the two arms of the U-table, spreading their fragrance through the candlelight room.

All of the flowers through the room were of white, as were also the little bride cards which marked the places.

Inside the tally cards, which were also in the bridal motif, was one page bearing the words, "Nan and Frank, May 24"; and while the guests were gathered around the little wedding party which centered their pretty table, the bride-to-be revealed her plans for the late spring nuptials which will make her Mrs. Frank Curran, jr.

Represented in miniature in the bridal scene today were the members of her own bridal party who will include her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mead, jr., as matron of honor; her sister, Miss Lolita Mead, as maid of honor; one of Mr. Curran's sisters, Miss Aileen Curran, as bridesmaid; and Miss Ruth Mead, as flower girl.

Azaleas Now
Abloom At Library

Thrilled appreciation of the garden beauty now abloom at the Huntington library was expressed upon the return of nearly 60 members and guests of Ebells Garden section.

They report masses of colorful and fragrant azaleas and rhododendrons, particularly beautiful in their carefully graduated shading of hue, and striking camellia trees ablaze with pink, red and white flowers.

In the Japanese garden are lovely double-flowering plum trees with white petals, and the myriads of little ponds, nodding cyclamen, and tiny primulas, coralbells and forget-me-nots, all contributing to a charming effect. Remarkable, too, are the lovely trees now in full foliage, the Chinese elm, the Montezuma cypress, the Japanese maple, and the Chinese monkey-puzzle tree being particularly noteworthy.

A feature of the delightful trip was a picnic lunch enjoyed at Story park in Alhambra, the committee in charge of which was composed of Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Mrs. F. W. Stanley, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. Bessie Mize, and Mrs. Kenton.

THORNE IN THE FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE
"It Stingeth Like An Adder"

Last week we studied the question of sin and how it came into the world. This week, in our second quarterly temperance lesson, we have a startling story of the doom pronounced by God upon sin and those who commit it.

The setting for today's lesson, found in Genesis 13:10-25, is that of Sodom. Lot had looked upon the well watered plains where Sodom was located. It had the appearance of wealth, prosperity and large opportunity. From the standpoint of outward appearances and without further investigation and consideration, Lot chose this as his place of residence. And today, as then, men make choices without proper consideration. They think only of prospects of personal profit, license monies for revenue, profits from sales or rentals, fleshly gratification seemingly offered—but fail to consider the moral and religious conditions that there are no real profits and that they lead only to destruction.

Lot's choice was a bad choice, as all such choices are apt to be, for we learn from the story of Sodom, that the men were "wicked and sinners before the Lord exceedingly." So great was this wickedness of Sodom, that God decided to destroy it. Conditions must have been extremely bad, for Abraham, Lot's uncle, pleaded with God to save the city if a certain number of righteous persons could be found. He began with 50 and came down to 10, each time God accepted his request. But not 10 righteous persons could be found in all Sodom. And as near as I can figure it out, Lot's family must have numbered at least 10. Hence, part of Lot's own family, refusing to flee with Lot, were destroyed. Again a wrong choice.

In Deuteronomy 32:31-33 we find some light on the character of wickedness of Sodom. In the pronouncement against Israel for forsaking God, they are compared to Sodom in respect to the vine, grapes and wine. Sodom was given to intemperance and their vine of the worst kind led them to actions such as is seen in the treatment of Lot's visitors (Gen. 19:1-11).

This story of Sodom is a great lesson of the effect of and judgment upon intemperance. It is not only a lesson for cities, but for nations and individuals. A day of judgment will surely come when everyone must answer for the attitude he has taken, the choice he has made.

Now let us look at the liquor problem as Solomon saw it. He declares that the use of strong drink makes one unnatural (Prov. 23:29). He also says such a drinker shall be poor (Prov. 21:17) and who can deny that there are more poor people among the drinkers than in any other one class. Yes, poor, financially, mentally, morally, physically and socially. Solomon's enumerates the effects further when he says "It biteth like a serpent. . . It stingeth like an adder."

"No engineer would pour destructive acids into his machinery just for a change" because such folly would violate his mechanical knowledge. But some people will pour alcohol and other poisons into their bodies, the organs of which are much more delicate and much more important than any machine made of iron or steel."

Let us see what science says about alcohol. Contrary to glowing billboards, alcohol is not a food. A pint of beer holds not to exceed four-fifths of an ounce of nutrient costing 22 times as much as that obtained in milk which contains 3.27 per cent. It has been claimed that alcohol is indispensable as a medicine, yet the Journal of the American Medical Association, July 11, 1936, discloses the fact that the use of alcohol medicinally is decreasing markedly. Clinically it has been shown that the death rate from pneumonia, for example, is reduced, and the period of convalescence from infectious diseases is shortened by abstaining from the use of alcohol. I was once laid up for several years, and underwent several major operations including open bone work. My physician, the world-renowned Dr. J. C. Clinton Foshee, F.A.C.S., of Grand Rapids, Mich., who performed the "miracles" in my behalf, told me on one occasion that one of the important factors in my favor was a clean life background; he was not hampered in his skill by the devastating effects of alcohol, etc.

And now what does society say about drink? Social welfare workers tell us of its wreckage of homes, its breakdowns of social standards and practices. Police tell us of the increase of crime and accidents due to booze.

Through the federal forums we have been hearing lots about social diseases. And—drinking of intoxicants tends to make one immoral, for drink takes away the controls and one yields easily to physical appetites. Our courts testify to the damning effects of alcohol upon individuals, family life, and society in general.

There are no honest arguments in favor of booze. Drink is cruel. It destroys life and happiness, body and soul, manhood and womanhood. It is a highway robber, a murderer, a thief, a prostitute, a home wrecker. The intoxication of drink is all unreality. Its glowing dreams vanish like a bubble and desert one. The drinker who feels like a king or a millionaire—awakes to disappointment.

We are told that while the Hessians were having a drinking party at Trenton, Washington and his men crossed the Delaware and turned the tide of victory that had been in favor of the British. And many a battle is lost today while those who might be victors stage a "harmless little drinking party in their own home."

There is said to be a house in Northern California built entirely of the materials from wrecked vessels. Even its fine inside trimmings came from wrecks. But I am also thinking of another beautiful house with lovely landscaped grounds. The floors, timbers, rugs, frescoes, walls—even the expensive automobile in the driveway—were all built from wrecks. Not from the wrecks of ships, but from the wrecks of homes, lives, souls! Its owner made his wealth by selling "choice" liquors to his fellow man.

What is the solution to the problem? More laws? Education?

The prohibition amendment was not needed to stop me from drinking, nor did the 21st offer any inducement to begin. It is not merely a question of laws, desirable as they may be. Education is good and the W. C. T. U. and similar organizations are to be commended on their work of education especially with the children. But education is not enough. A change of heart is necessary. We need to get back to the teachings of the old Book. And as Howard Catel said last Sunday over KVOE "The Calvary cure will do more good than the Keeley cure."

Pastor To Answer Question, 'Is Jesus a Communist?'

"Is Jesus a Communist?" will be answered in a sermon entitled "Revolutionary Propaganda in the N. W. Testament" to be given tomorrow at the Unitarian church by the Rev. Julia N. Budlong.

"When I was in school," said the Rev. Miss Budlong in discussing her theme, "young people asked each other in daring murmurs, 'Do you think that Jesus was a Socialist?' I have heard ministers in recent years announce that the Socialist was the one party which even attempted to put Christianity into government. But now it is the Communists who point out the similarity between Communism and early Christianity."

"Indeed there is much to be said for their contention," she continued warmly. "Christianity has always been a dangerous doctrine! Nietzsche, the pessimist, fumed at it as 'slave morality.' This undecorous regard for the poor and hate for the rich will be pointed out and traced to its sources tomorrow."

THE REAL "DEAD EYE" ...
"Dead eye" has been an expression in use for some time to indicate uncanny accuracy. Whether or not the expression was born before Augie Kieckhefer is difficult to ascertain. He really had a "dead eye," figuratively and physically.
Blind in his left eye throughout his career, Kieckhefer ranked with the greatest three-cushion billiard players of the world for nearly 20 years.
Though normally right handed, the 3-cushion wizard used his left hand for shooting billiards in order to line his shots up with his only good eye, the right.

PILOT MAJOR OF SPAIN ...
Whether or not Amerigo Vespucci deserves to have his name perpetuated in that of the New World will never be known. Modern authorities on the subject allege that he exaggerated many of his claims.
Vespucci was a merchant by profession and only after he passed the half-century mark did he go to sea. On March 22, 1508, he was appointed Pilot Major of Spain.

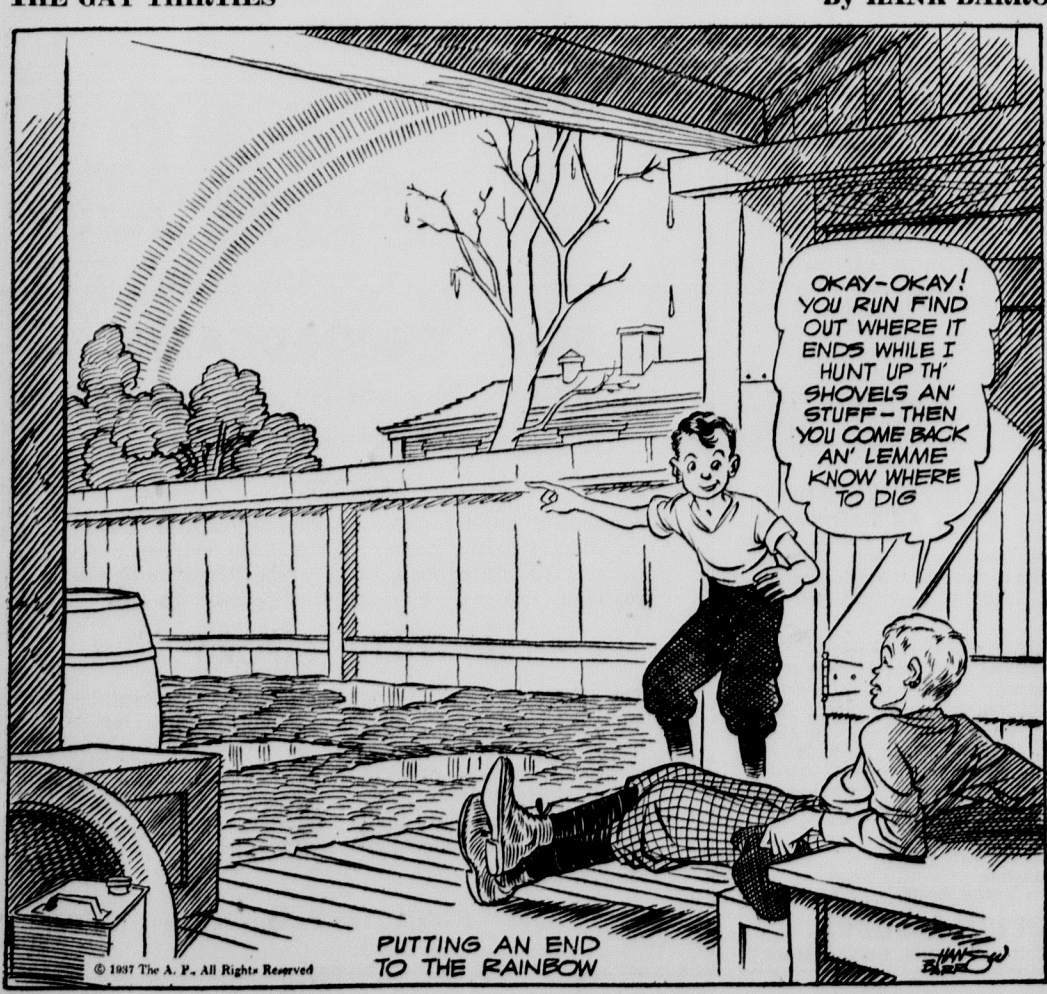

COSMETIC ALCOHOL ...
The Arabian word, "al-kohl," from which our modern "alcohol" is derived, originally referred to a powder of antimony or galena, used by Arabian women as an eyebrow paint.

In the World's Richest Country

AN ACCOUNTANT who lives on the fringe of the so-called respectable district of the county seat of "the richest county in the world" tells this story:

Recently he was hoeing his backyard garden late in the afternoon.

A youngster from the poor family behind him pops a head over the fence and pipes: "Kin I come over?"

"Sure," says our accountant friend.

"Gee, kin I have one of those grapefruit on that tree?"

"Sure," says the teller of this tale as he watches the kid dash home with it.

In a few minutes the boy is back. "Kin I have another for mother?"

The grapefruit for mother is given, and the boy remarks: "Gee, this is swell. We haven't had nuthin' to eat since breakfast."

"What did you have for breakfast?"

"Just rice, and we didn't have nuthin' on it, either."

"What will you have for supper?"

"I don't know if we'll have any supper. We didn't have none last night."

This conversation took place in Santa Ana, county seat of "the richest county in the world."

And yet some complacent people simply can't believe that there is any misery and suffering among the children of the poor as shown so conclusively by the recent survey among pupils in county schools.

F. D. R. will go fishing April 28. That's good news. We Americans believe that the country is safe whenever a president goes fishing. But it has to be fishing. No other pastime will do.

Unbouncing the Dollar

"CONDITIONS are somewhat unsettled in the United States and throughout the world," said Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma. And, nobody, we think, is likely to accuse him of exaggerating the situation.

Senator Thomas was explaining to the Senate his proposed "Monetary Authority Act." Through most of our history, he said, the value of the dollar has bounced up and down like a rubber ball, with commodity prices correspondingly bouncing down and up, and trouble at each extreme.

His proposal to create a National Monetary Authority, with power to decide what the value of the dollar ought to be and peg it there, he announced, would enable us to balance the national budget, end sit-down strikes, prevent deflationary panics and ruinous inflationary booms, provide adequate incomes for farmers and other producers and protect consumers against too high prices. In short, we gather, it would move the American people almost overnight to within at least eyeshot of Utopia.

The senator's description of conditions at home and abroad as "somewhat unsettled" may be a masterpiece of understatement. But his claims for the remedy he offers can hardly be criticized on the grounds of restraint.

An Ohio slot machine manufacturer confesses to evading income tax on $90,000 profits. No slot machine player ever had to do anything like that.

A Common Sense Ruling

DISTRICT ATTORNEY MENTON rules that the supervisors have no authority to dictate what kind of supplies and equipment elected county officials must purchase. That ruling sounds like good, common horse sense.

If the county auditor would rather pound on one brand of typewriter than another, why not let him?

And if another official prefers to drive one car in a certain price range to another, why not allow him to?

Unless price reductions are to be obtained by buying typewriters, automobiles and other equipment in quantity lots, we see no reason to specify that the supervisors may decide the brands to be purchased.

We believe that the county officials are competent to select the type equipment that fills their need best. Such selection should be made, of course, after a fair comparison as to quality and price of competing brands. All manufacturers and retailers pay a share of the taxes. And they are all, therefore, entitled to a break in county business.

It seems about as silly to try to dictate to county officials about what kind of typewriters they use as it would be to tell the men employees to wear pink neckties and the stenographers cotton stockings.

To date, auto killings in Orange county are ahead of last year. And what acres of perfectly good space the newspapers have devoted to warnings.

The People Are Winning in Spain

WITH rebel forces in retreat all over Spain, it appears that the unhappy common people of that war-torn land are at last getting the upper hand over oppressors who have ridden them for centuries and the foreigners who are seeking to perpetuate this oppression.

General Franco—despite the aid of Hitler and Mussolini—is being beaten. His futile siege of Madrid may soon have to be abandoned.

In view of the struggles which our own ancestors went through to found and preserve this republican form of government, we sympathize with the citizens of Spain in their fight against the Fascists and Moorish mercenaries.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

A letter to Dog Heaven: Dear Billy—I came across your badly chewed but favorite ball in the closet today and put it away quickly with a slight choke. It has been more than a year now since you went away and we miss you as much as ever.

I think it was largely because after great suffering you faced the Last Terror.

O. O. McIntyre with such magnificent valor. A patient little sigh, a twitch of your moustache, and it was all over. For several nights I walked the streets trying to get hold of myself. I wanted you back then as I do now.

I'd meet Terrence, the cop, who used to tickle you behind the ear, John the Waldorf doorman, and others who knew you, and they'd inquire: "Where's Billy?" I'd have to shake my head and go rushing on. They looked at me strangely, and then somehow they understood. They no longer ask, but they miss you.

Your mistress packed most of your playthings, your harness, leashes, blankets and your water bowl "Pour de Chien" that we got at Rouen, and sent them to the aid of the Bide-a-Wee. You were never selfish, and I'm sure you would approve that.

I have been thinking of that dreadful misty night we arrived in Paris and the pink checked page boy in the tumbourine cap took you out for an airing, and despite the warning took off your leash—and in your bewilderment you bolted. When he returned, white-faced, holding the empty harness, it was the nearest I ever came to fainting. Poor dear Billy lost in a fog in a strange city. For four frantic hours I searched, and finally found you surrounded by a group of chattering, gesticulating Frenchmen at the Coty corner of the Place Vendome. How you literally bounded into my arms with what seemed a human shriek of joy when you saw me, and looked at my hand and face with your warm, wet tongue. Then you sank into a fit of exhaustion. All the rest of the night you did not move. I know, for I could not sleep.

Because you were deaf and so dependent, I suppose, you entwined our hearts more than the average dog. And left such an enormous gap. Mankind in its feeble gropings is always, and for excellent reasons I firmly believe, puzzled by Death. You now know what some day all of us must learn. That is: What is on the other side? For if dogs haven't souls, neither has man, and the end is extinction. So I believe.

I like to imagine you romping through lush Elysian fields, jumping high like a rabbit, stopping now and then quizzically to look back and listen for familiar voices and footfalls. For certainly you will no longer be deaf in your Valhalla. Maybe all this is a foolish hope and maybe again it is not. What seems once miraculous often becomes quite simple.

You will recall Ben Ali Haggin's dog Nimble that Ben Ali so thoughtfully gave us during the last few months of your earthly stay. You grieved at one another at first and once or twice forgot mutual manners and the fur flew. But in a short time you were trotting off together, tugging for the same sniffs of fascinating odors. Because you were old established you kept Nimble in the back at night, but after you left he came in to occupy your bed and indulge your privileges. Like you, he is a thorough and thoughtful gentleman.

For a time Nimble missed you, too, and when going out for an airing would suddenly stop, look back, and whimper. He did not understand. I cannot say Nimble has taken your place in my heart. No dog ever will. But he eased the ache. The cloud is that some day he, too, must go and again wrench our hearts. We do give our hearts to dogs to tear.

Nimble, just as you, indeed as all dogs, has a distinct personality. You'd grin—remember how you used to grin?—when he flew into a fury at a big dog. He positively screamed when he saw a mastiff the other day. And him weighing 14 pounds.

Nimble is not the cracker-jack "buggy rider" you were either. You were always on the window seat smudging up the pane with your damp nose and missing nothing. Especially the bright lights of Broadway. Nimble is on the floor stretched out and fast asleep in a couple of blocks. The sway of the car seems to act like a lullaby in the arm or something. That's about all. I know you continue to be the same brave spirit in the transition. So an revoir and we will be seeing you.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's note: The famous brass ring, coveted prize of riders on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, is garnered this week by Owen Josephus Roberts, justice of the United States supreme court with the pivotal vote in that divided body. The brass ring is good for one free ride.)

WASHINGTON. — There are just two reasons for the recent reversals by the supreme court. One is the President's message to congress and the clamor of court criticism touched off throughout the country.

Second is Justice Owen Josephus Roberts, who, having sensitive ears and a sensitive disposition, became alarmed at the din and took lessons from the acrobatic performances of the chief justice.

Roberts has become the "swing man" of the supreme court. Friends say that Owen Josephus is not a happy man these days. He has not been in public life long enough to develop the tough hide of his reactionary colleagues, and when the brickbats come his way, he winces.

Two years ago, faced with the problem of making a choice between the two wings of the bench, he listened to the shrewd and convincing Irishman who sat on his left, Justice Butler, and to the ambitious prattle of Mrs. Roberts about stabilizing the country. All most with a sigh of relief, he cast his lot with the "Four Horsemen of Reaction."

But now, as he realizes the direction in which they are dragging the country, and as he listens to the storm of abuse they have brought down upon their own heads, Roberts has swung back into another period of uncertainty.

During this period it is Chief Justice Hughes rather than Butler who has become his friend and counselor. The chief justice also has been troubled—troubled about the prestige and future of his court. And now he has coached his junior colleague in the art of swinging.

BUGLE BLOWER

Roberts is one of the most charming and likeable members of the court, and he has had a variegated and strenuous career. His father, who was a wagon dealer back in the horse-and-buggy days, and who has lived long enough to be inordinately proud of Owen, tells several stories about his son's ambition.

One of the first ambitions of young Roberts was to be a musician. So he bought a cornet, and according to his father, "made the most ear-racking noises I ever heard in my life. It was always a wonder we didn't get complaints from the neighbors."

Owen was proficient enough to unload solos on the members of Philadelphia's Third Baptist church of a Sunday morning. He is now an Episcopalian, because, according to his more jocular friends, the Baptists excommunicated him for his cornet-playing.

"My son wanted to be a school teacher," says the elder Roberts. "I wanted him to be a lawyer, but he said he didn't want to be one. So we went to Dr. William Kershaw, the headmaster of Germantown Academy.

"Owen told me: 'I don't want to be a lawyer because lawyers are not honest.' Dr. Kershaw said: 'You can be a lawyer and be honest at anything, Owen!'"

HONEST LAWYER

So Owen Josephus became a lawyer, one of the best paid in Philadelphia, although his clients testified to his fairness regarding fees. Congressman J. William Ditter of Ambler, Pa., tells how he brought in Roberts as associate counsel to help him on a church case. The congregation feared Roberts would charge them a fabulous fee and asked what it would be.

"Would $500 be too much?" Roberts asked. They were surprised and pleased and retained him. In the end he returned the money because he had not been able to complete the work. However, he had done most of it.

MANY-SIDED

The chief influence in Roberts' life which makes him "swing man" today is his experience as a lawyer, which taught him to be an expert at justifying the position of his client. Roberts had a tremendous law practice. He was vigorous and extremely able. He did it chiefly by won cases.

He did it so convincingly that he convinced others.

In doing so he usually convinced himself. Therefore Roberts came to the supreme court with the ability to justify whichever side of a case is easiest for him to take. This does not mean that he was looking for the easiest side. But it does mean that he is more impressionable, more easily swayed.

SLOW-SWINGER

Roberts has known the government's point of view as prosecutor in the Teapot Dome oil cases. For a much longer period he has known the big business point of view, as a highly successful corporate lawyer.

Most of the time he sides with the latter, but on occasion he recognizes that all is not perfect in the present economic system.

On the supreme court, Roberts has adopted a policy of running to the fire only after he hears the alarm. He does not believe in fire prevention. And in recent years he has had to hear the alarms ringing in his ears for many months before finally reversing himself.

The swing came so late that he did not win the sympathy of the liberals whom he joined, but only riled the reactionaries whom he deserted.

Owen Josephus Roberts is the "swing man" of the supreme court, but he is a slow swinger.

NEW YORK.—The Titanic disaster, written into history by many of the 745 survivors, accounts for the loss of 1539 persons at sea off Newfoundland banks early Monday morning and the subsequent death of six who were rescued, bringing the total of lives lost to 1595. These figures make the disaster the greatest in ocean travel ever known. Nearly all survivors saw the Titanic sink and heard the band play "Nearer, My God, to Thee" amid the shrieks of those whom the sea claimed as the vessel sank in 2000 fathoms.

Reports from Newport Beach are to the effect that mackerel are running, and fishing from the wharf fine. C. S. Forgy caught 90 from the wharf day before yesterday.

A large number of motorcyclists passed through here this morning from Long Beach on their way to San Diego. At the corner of Main street and Chestnut avenue, at the turn east, one of the riders narrowly escaped running into a man ahead. He jumped off his machine, letting it fall to the ground. This delayed the crowd for some time, but no damage was done.

WORKERS' ALLIANCE
To the Editor: Thank you for printing my letter explaining the WPA strikes. I am enclosing this paper, for the current month, the official organ of the Workers' Alliance of California.

Yesterday the Costa Mesa paper was given a notice of the meeting of the Costa Mesa local; a notice was accepted too, for the Journal. I shall be looking for it in my paper. We think it an excellent idea, and are suggesting it to the Washington headquarters of the Alliance, that for speedier and more concentrated action, it is good to have the taxpayers come to our meetings, look us over and hear grievance committee reports. This gives them the chance to be good neighbors, too, along with making them forget the old ballyhoo the politicians use as scare-heads and forever are giving them a grievance, national in nature, and they may learn to kick less and do more for themselves and the rest, too.

Relative to the case I reported when the family of five was supposed on SRA, to nourish themselves in toto and pay for utilities besides all on $10 a month; this family is to have what the mother would earn on the sewing WPA work, $60 a month. This doubles their allowance, so they can now eat decently and live like humans, thanks to a "repeat" committee that called back on the case within the same week, paying the gas money from the local treasury.

This is sound Americanism. Keep behind us and convert the hard-shelled reactionaries that are gumming up our times with out-worn political understanding. Again I thank you.

EVERY MAN A COP

To the Editor: Recently there has been some talk about giving a certain number of citizens the power to report reckless drivers to the police. Why not give every driver this power?

Observe how closely all motorists adhere to every rule of safe driving at sight of a police car or motorcycle. If a motorist tempted to drive recklessly, knew that one or more of the drivers he was about to endanger would take the trouble to fill out a card, giving the offender's license number, nature and place of offense, and drop the card in a mailbox, that he would receive an official warning for his first offense and his name be put on record as a traffic violator; that reports of further recklessness on his part would result in increasing penalties, and finally, if he failed to curb his recklessness, after a certain number of reports, he would be judged unfit to drive and his operator's license revoked, he would resist the initial temptation towards recklessness.

The reckless driver can be apprehended only when in action, and easiest by those whom he endangers. The effectiveness of police work depends on the cooperation of the public. Without the help of the motoring public, the police are powerless in combating the traffic killer.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Young salesman for ice cream comes: "How's business?" inquires a passing adult. "Oh, not so good now, but it will be better when the weather gets hot." And isn't that a blend of hope that keeps us in business and makes up life's experiences? No matter what we are doing we look optimistically to the future to improve conditions and bring to us a realization of our anticipations. If the future did not hold some hope of consummation we might just as well all become sit-down strikers.

That fellow who fasted 26 days "on order of the Lord" is different from that portion of the human race which has been fasting on order of necessity. So far as I am concerned I don't believe the Lord ever issued such an order in the first place. Some operator gave him the wrong number.

"The Rabbi" leaves an impertinence on my desk, and slides off before I get back to argue the proposition. When he comes in I am out and when I am out he comes in. When I am out he invites me to lunch, and when I am in he never says anything about lunch. Just for that he got his wish and I did go hungry. Maybe you think he can't do this, but he Kohen.

Another observation: Attempts made to beautify the curbs should be encouraged, but if after the beautification they are neglected then the germ should perish. Nothing looks quite so forlorn as an embryonic flower plot. And what is worth having is worth working for.

If you are up-town early enough you can see the bakery man delivering doughnuts to go with the coffee, bread to be turned into toast, trucks stopping to unload their cargo of freight and buses their passenger fares. Girls rushing to their work and men in overalls to the varied lines of industry. The men who pay the bills arrive later and go home later.

The law provides for two license plates for automobiles. One for the front of the car and one for the rear. But when you put both on the end of the car there isn't anything left for the front. And that isn't all of the story. You just can't become what you are, of the missing plate until some member of the family insists that both of them are on the car. And that's just where they were. License plates come closely pressed together, and you can get 'em both in one place if you want 'em, but that isn't the intent of the law. Sometimes when I generate enough courage I am going to ask Fred Parsons what he would do in a case of this kind.

April 18 to 24 has been designated as national ice cream week. It may be stated in this connection that ice cream week has the approval of the children. The movement is also heralded as possessing health giving qualities, and the literature I have seen carries a picture of a girl in a bathing suit to prove it.

I was thinking about going to the Elks' hard-time party this evening but on second thought decided not to go. Times have been hard enough with me for the past ten years. What I'm looking for is better times. However, "as them that likes it" let 'em go to the hard-times party, and if they can forget their troubles for an evening it will prove to be a good tonic. Conditions leading all in one direction—mentally unhealthy. And if you can't have a good time at the Elks, I do not know where to send you.

Telegraphic reports announce the early arrival of dust storms in Midwestern states. Every section of the world which has built up some kind of a reputation for equitable climate occasionally gets a black optic from the caprice of nature. We had both eyes discolored this year but it was from smudge. However, we have our face washed and look natural again. Come and see us.

My felicitations to Charley Langley, foreman of 28 post office letter carriers, to retire next November, and in all probability would prefer to work. In 1899 when Charley went to work in the post office a couple of boxes served as "work" cases and he and two other carriers made the mail. Since then, however, he has delivered Uncle Sam's mail to almost every home in town, welcomed at every door and respected by every associate. He is easy to "live" with. Agreeable, dependable, reasonable, are elements in his make-up which have so strongly entrenched him in the hearts of his fellow carriers that his retirement is a matter of community regret. But what a comfort it is to build that kind of a structure in which you can rest and reflect when the calmer days come. Charley won't issue his official good-bye for several months. After that I hope it is a long time before we are called upon to say good-bye to him.
